10 Per Cent Tax Hike Requested By Johnson

Bagley Optimistic Of Housing Reform

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The fate of California's principal open housing law rested today with the Senate—already on record favoring its outright repeal.

Most indications pointed to a favorable Senate vote on a compromise version of a bill carefully drawn to meet the voters' objections to the controversy - ridden 1963 Rumford Act.

The Assembly voted 46 - 32 yesterday to modify the anti-discrimination statute primarily by exempting single - family dwellings and owners of less than five units of housing from the law.

But the bill, originally drafted in the Senate as a Rumford repealer, returned to the upper house for a vote on the Assembly compromise.

The upper chamber voted April 13 — nearly four months ago — to repeal the law in response to a 2-1 vote in the 1964 general election to nullify it.

Any attempt in the Senate to restore the bill to its original form would certainly meet with a rebuff from the Assembly, which conclusively turned down a repeal effort.

As a result, the Senate is faced with a choice of accepting the modification bill or letting the 1967 legislature adjourn its record - long session this weekend without any action.

If the legislature failed to act, the law would remain in effect. Although the voters nullified it, their action was overturned by the state Supreme Court, a decision confirmed by the U.S. Supreme Court May 29.

Gov. Ronald Reagan said he would sign the outright repeal

Congressmen Given October Deadline

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson today asked Congress to impose a temporary 10 per cent surcharge on private and corporate income taxes—4 per cent more than he proposed in January.

For individuals, the surtax would go into effect on Oct. 1. Corporations would have to pay the increase retroactive to July 1.

In a special message to the House and Senate, Johnson said the currently projected $23.6 billion budget deficit "poses a clear and present danger to America's security and economic health."

If left unremedied, he said "it could cause a spiral of ruinous inflation which would rob the poor, the elderly, the millions with fixed income." And, he added, it would mean "an unequal and unjust distribution of the cost of supporting our men in Vietnam."

"This (increase) is necessary to give American fighting men the weapons, the equipment and the help they need to hold the budget deficit within limits and to continue our education, health, poverty, urban and other vital programs," the President said.

Johnson's message said that the surcharges would expire on June 30, 1969 "or continue for so long as the unusual expenditures associated with out efforts in Vietnam require higher revenues."

When reporters asked whether he expected the war to be over in 1969, he passed it off with a wave of the arm and stressed that he had said "or" so long as the conflict required the extraordinary expenditures.

Johnson said he had been informed by Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., that the House Ways and Means Committee would start hearings on the tax proposal Aug. 14. He said he had urged quick congressional action because "there's not anything that's as hurtful as uncertainity on the economic community."

Republicans on Capitol Hill, who had opposed even the President's previous proposal and demanded spending cuts,

50,000 New Viet Troops Authorized

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson disclosed today that he has authorized an increase of 45,000 to 50,000 in the U.S. troop commitment to South Vietnam. This will bring the authorized troop strength there this fiscal year to about 525,000.

Johnson made the disclosure in a message to Congress asking for a higher taxes to meet the growing war costs and the threat of a huge budget deficit.

The President also said he had directed Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara to make a searching review of all defense spending and to cut costs wherever possible, consistent with national security.

There are now 461,000 American troops in Vietnam, according to the Pentagon. The previously authorized strength for this fiscal year was about 480,000. This was raised as a result of a request for more men from Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U.S. commander in Vietnam.

Johnson said the new troop commitment was decided on after the recent talks he had with Westmoreland, McNamara and the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The other allies are being asked to also beef up their forces.

Two special White House emissaries, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor and Clark Clifford, have been traveling to allied Asian capitals to promote a stepup in their troop commitments. Reports along their travel route indicate they are not getting too much favorable response.

Reds Bombard Fuel Dumps, River Fleet

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist guerrillas today bombarded a key U.S. Navy base and a major fuel dump near Saigon, wounding 34 Americans, damaging six ships and exploding about 50,000 gallons of oil in a blast that lit up the predawn sky.

U.S. spokesmen also announced that the number of American war casualties last week fell to the lowest mark in six months.

The guerrillas in 20 minutes lobbed 30 to 40 mortar rounds into the sprawling Nha Be Navy base and the adjacent fuel dump seven miles south-southeast of Saigon. The Viet Cong then raked the area with small arms and recoilless rifle fire, wounding 12 Vietnamese as well as the Americans.

Brig. Gen. John F. Freund, commanding the Army 199th Light Infantry Brigade in the area, told newsmen bad communist aiming and good winds prevented the stunning attack from becoming "a major catastrophe."

The barrage did "light" damage to some of the 40 Navy patrol boats and minesweepers protecting the ship channels from Saigon to the South China Sea. It set off about 1,000 50-gallon drums of oil.

But the communist guns missed the giant oil storage tanks. And, the general said,

U.S. Gunners Fell Own Cargo Plane

SAIGON (UPI)—A U. S. twin engine transport plane loaded with ammunition was shot down accidentally today by American artillery as it was coming in to land at a Green Beret Special Forces camp. The three Americans aboard were killed.

UPI newsfilm cameraman Dennit Suit, who saw the tragedy, said a single round of 155 millimeter artillery fire from a U. S. battery sliced the Caribou plane in two at the Ha Phan special forces camp 45 miles north of Duc Pht.

"It took a direct hit with a 155 millimeter round about 200 yards in front of the gun positions," Suit said. "It just cut that plane in half."

The stricken craft did not catch fire or explode. Instead, the tail section plummeted into a South Vietnamese irregular defense post and the main section smashed into a bunker, Suit said.

"There were just these two big pieces coming down," Suit said. "They landed about 100 yards apart."

Wave Of Race Violence Is Being Checked

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Racial violence hit four of the nation's cities last night and today, but the wave of civil disorder failed to spread for the first time in 24 days.

Although there was a marked ebb in violence throughout the night, an 18-year-old Negro was killed in one of the incidents which occurred in cities where racial outbreaks took place earlier this week.

The cities included Milwaukee, Providence, R.I., Peoria, Ill., and Sandusky, Ohio.

Clifford McKissick, a college sophomore, was slain while running from the scene of a firebombing at a point store in Milwaukee. It was the city's fourth night of violence, and McKissick was the fourth person killed in the outbreak. He was the 77th person to die in racial violence since the Newark rioting began on July 12.

Nevertheless, last night was the first in more than three weeks that racial violence failed to spread into a community which had no recent outbreaks of disorder. The last

Chief Blames Rioting On Militant Groups

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Nashville police captain told Senate investigators today that certain militant Negro groups "are actively contributing to the rioting in a number of cities."

The testimony of Captain John A. Scarace was interpreted by a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., as suggesting a conspiracy in recent urban rioting. Kennedy urged that FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover be called to testify on that point.

Scarace appeared at the second day of Judiciary Committee hearings —ostensibly on a House-passed antiriot bill but which appeared to be growing into a general inquiry into rioting. Police officials of Washington, Rochester and Newark also were summoned today.

Scarace declined to say directly whether he felt springtime racial violence in Nashville and subsequent riots elsewhere "is a national or international conspiracy."

He said his job was to show that "groups like RAM (Revolutionary Action Movement) and SNCC (Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee) are actively contributing to the rioting in a number of cities."

Kennedy said Scarace's testimony "would leave the impression that a conspiracy is taking place."

Kennedy suggested that Hoover be called in view of his testimony to the White House riot investigating commission earlier this week that he had no evidence of a conspiracy in the rioting.

A Nashville Negro police lieutenant, Robert Hill, and Scarace both said that prior to trouble there, there was "quite a bit of subversive activity." This followed a comment by Sen. James O. Eastland, in charge of the Senate inquiry, that the rioting followed a traditional communist pattern.

Fracas At County Jail Prompts Probe

A Tuesday night fracas between two county jail inmates — one with a broken arm suffered in a scuffle only a week ago — was being investigated today by sheriff's officers and the district attorney's office.

The second prisoner, Thomas Haskell Thompson Jr., 21-year-old transient, was treated and released from Marin General Hospital, and an eyedropper-type hypodermic syringe was found in the cell, officers belatedly reported yesterday noon.

They said Thompson, charged with motorcycle theft, suffered minor face bruises and several small rib punctures he claimed were inflicted with a ball-point pen by his alleged assailant, James N. Litteral, 21.

Litteral, awaiting judgment for burglary, has a broken arm received July 27 in what deputies said appeared to be an accidental fall during a wrestling match with another inmate, Robert W. Hullinger, 22, who suffered a broken nose in the fall.

In Tuesday's incident, officers said Thompson and Litteral were in a cell with three other prisoners when Thompson attempted to change the television program. Litteral objected and Thompson returned to his bunk, they said.

Minutes later Litteral assaulted him, Thompson told officers. They said Thompson was taken to the hospital in

Stocks Plunge After Johnson Asks Tax Hike

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market slumped in heavy trading today after President Johnson recommended a 10 per cent surcharge on corporate and individual income taxes.

At 1 p.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had fallen 7.74 points to 914.53. A half-hour earlier it had been off more than 9 points.

Brokers said the proposal for a 10 per cent surcharge was bigger than many on Wall Street had expected.

Losses by key stocks ranged from $1 to $3 a share.

The setback came after the market had climbed to new 1967 highs Tuesday and yesterday.

Reagan, U.S. Diplomats Part Ways

SACRAMENTO (AP) —California had its own foreign aid program today, of sorts, after severing diplomatic relations with the U.S. State Department.

In a move reminiscent of the 1846 Bear Flag revolt by California pioneers seeking independence from Mexico, Gov. Ronald Reagan dissolved the state's partnership with the United States in an "Alliance for Progress" program to aid Chile.

Reagan, through his cabinet secretary, accused the State Department of indecision, unwarranted restrictions, and bureaucratic obstruction in administration of the Chile-California program.

Reagan reassured Chile of California's firm friendship and goodwill and said efforts would be made to continue the technical assistance program with the help of private money raised in California.

"The State of California must proceed without further federal participation or assistance in the Chile-California program," the Reagan administration told Secretary of State Dean Rusk in a letter.

"This is disappointing. The administrations of both Chile and California have prepared themselves for an energetic continuation of the program."

William P. Clark Jr., Reagan's young Ivy League-appearing cabinet secretary, disclosed the move at a special press briefing. Reagan was in Santa Monica recuperating from surgery.

The future bilateral aid program would have to be under a "loose agreement," Clark said, to avoid entanglement with the First Article of the U.S. Constitution which declares that "No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confederation . . ."

There was no air of diplomatic crisis in legislative corridors, however, as lawmakers concentrated on domestic issues, trying to wrap up a seven-month long session by this weekend.

"Oh really?" asked one assemblyman when advised of the diplomatic move. "Well . . ."

Clark acknowledged California's move probably is without precedent, but he noted one traditional tie between the two Pacific Coast states: earthquakes.

"Chile was the first country to come to the aid of San Francisco in the earthquake of 1906 and California came to the aid of Chile in the earthquakes of 1960."

The State Department ired California, he said, by restricting California officials' travel to Chile, rejecting Reagan's appointee to head the program as inexperienced in foreign affairs and not fluent in Spanish and by

Marshall Believed Approved For Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate Judiciary Committee apparently approved today the nomination of Thurgood Marshall to be the first Negro member of the Supreme Court.

The vote was taken in a closed session and Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he would not announce the result until he polled members who were absent. But one member, Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., made it clear Marshall won approval.

SENATOR ATTACKS PARK SITE SWAP

Metcalf Claims Federal Bureau Ready To Give Up Muir Woods In Redwood Deal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate was told today that offers by the Johnson administration to the State of California to reach agreement on a redwood national park could set a dangerous precedent.

The warning came in a speech prepared for delivery in the Senate by Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., a sponsor of legislation to authorize a redwood national park in Northern California.

Metcalf, who says the administration wants to put the park in the wrong area, sharply criticized proposals by the Budget Bureau to exchange federal lands for two state parks to form a nucleus for the new national park.

PUBLIC LANDS

The Montana Democrat told his colleagues that the Budget Bureau proposed to give up four federal beaches, two national monuments — including Muir Woods — and 301,000 acres of public domain land.

In addition, Metcalf said, the bureau proposed $51 million in construction of logging roads and accelerated freeway construction in "generous" programs which "do not save one single redwood."

Metcalf's speech came one day after Chairman Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., of the House Interior Committee declared his committee would not take up redwoods legislation before it adjourns for the year.

The Montana lawmaker and Rep. Jeffery Cohelan, D-Calif., are proposing a park in the Redwood Creek area — further south than where the Interior Department wants to set up with the Jedediah Smith and Del Norte Coast Redwoods State parks as a nucleus.

The senator criticized a proposal by the bureau to turn over the Muir Woods and Devil's Postpile national monuments to the state "for no good reason."

Metcalf said Congress should take a close look at the proposed exchanges to determine what effect they would have on other federal programs.

Police Chief Indictment To Be Sought

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Attorney General's Office plans to seek indictments against Modesto Police Chief Robert Meester and Detective Sgt. Gene Coats.

The announcement was made yesterday by Chief Asst. Atty. Gen. Arlo E. Smith who said the matter will be presented to the Stanislaus County Grand Jury Aug. 14.

Smith said he would seek indictment of both policemen on charges of fabricating evidence in vice squad arrests. He added he would also ask that Meester be indicted for misusing public funds.

Smith said his office investigated the matter at the request of Stanislaus County Dist. Atty. Alexander Wolfe.

Coats resigned from the Modesto Police Department July 19 after Wolfe disclosed an investigation was in progress. Coats later denied he had done anything irregular and asked for reinstatement. City officials have not acted on the request.

Meester was suspended by the city manager July 21. The chief later offered his resignation to the city council but it was refused.

Money Held No Panacea For Rioting

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Throwing money at Negro problems will not make them vanish or solve riot threats, according to Los Angeles County Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger.

Speaking to the National Association of Defense Lawyers at its annual convention yesterday, Younger criticized anti-poverty programs which he said provided unqualified persons with unnecessary jobs to spend money rapidly.

"This particular program at least provides the poor Negro with a good laugh," Younger said.

He urged that federal funds be spent wisely on programs such as Headstart and compensatory education that "truly speed the day when the Negro has equal educational opportunities."

He criticized "absurd anti-poverty programs where we hire unqualified people to do unnecessary jobs and where we hire untrained and inexperienced, unemployable people to administer the program so the cost of administration will be over 50 per cent and we can get rid of the money faster."

To avoid riots in the United States, Younger said that "all Americans must obey all the laws at all times . . . period." The second step is to free the slaves, he said.

"The average white American has practiced discrimination in varying ways in varying degrees," the former FBI agent said. "We might have successfully kept the Negro in slavery; but we can't keep him half free. Let's be honest and admit that just throwing money at the Negro problem has not made it go away."

Mississippi Misery Grips Both Negros, Whites, Survey Finds

By JACK MILLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal investigators looking for racial discrimination in Mississippi welfare programs report finding wide spread deprivation among both whites and Negroes with no clearcut differences between them in welfare payments.

"Human needs are not being met," said the report, made last December by Health, Education and Welfare Department staffers but released only recently under the U.S. Freedom of Information Act.

"General deprivation, affecting both Negroes and whites irrespective of any specific discrimination toward Negroes, was found to be a major problem," said the report. But it added: "This poverty, because of income levels, falls more heavily on Negroes than others."

The study, based on interviews with about 150 persons in 10 Mississippi counties, found "poverty exists throughout the state both within and without the public welfare programs. Limitations in law and inadequate appropriations are contributing factors. A negative attitude toward welfare is commonplace."

Those interviewed included civic and civil rights leaders as well as welfare workers and officials.

Mississippi has the lowest average assistance payments of any state and receives the highest percentage of federal contributions toward its public assistance, the study said. Yet it also noted Mississippi has the lowest per capita income of any state but "nevertheless exceeded 27 other states for assistance payments from state and local funds per $1,000 of personal income in 1965."

Several member of Congress, including Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., charged recently that people are going hungry in Mississippi. In response to such allegations from Capitol Hill and elsewhere, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has lowered the price of food stamps for needy families.

Investigators said one force which has held back full compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act is "an undercurrent of fear" among both Negroes and whites in Mississippi.

EX-TEACHER FIGURES — These figures were used and inscribed on the blackboard this morning by President Johnson, the former school teacher from Texas, as he briefed reporters on his proposed tax increases. (AP Wirephoto)

LBJ Asks Congressmen For 10 Pct. Tax Hike

The President had earlier proposed a 6 per cent surcharge on corporate and private income tax payments. Today's announcement confirmed persistent reports that because of increasing Vietnam war costs and a rising budget deficit, the figure might go as high as 10 per cent.

Johnson had said that the surcharge figure might be adjusted, but declined until today to say in which direction.

In his tax message Johnson revealed that he had decided to authorize an increase "of at least 45,000 in the number of men to be sent to Vietnam this fiscal year."

He cited this as well as other increased war costs as contributing to the need for a higher hike. In addition to the temporary surtaxes, Johnson called for:

Postponement of scheduled cuts in excise taxes on automobiles and telephone service, set for next April 1. The 7 per cent excise tax on autos would not fall to 2 per cent until July 1, 1969, and to 1 per cent until January 1, 1970. The 10 per cent telephone tax would not go to 1 per cent until July 1, 1969, and would not be eliminated until Jan. 1, 1970.

A speedup in corporate tax collections, as he recommended last January when he called for the 6 per cent surtax. Starting next Jan. 1, corporations would pay their estimated taxes on the basis of 80 per cent of their liability rather than 70 per cent. And over a five-year period, "small corporations, as well as large, would become concurrent in their tax payments."

The proposed 10 per cent surtax, Johnson said, would expire June 30, 1969, or "continue for so long as the unusual expenditures associated with our efforts in Vietnam require higher revenues."

The President's proposal faces stiff opposition in some quarters on Capitol Hill. Republican leaders and even some key Democrats have been urging that government spending be reduced before any tax increase is considered.

One Republican, Rep. Richard L. Roudebush, R-Ind., served notice, "I intend to vote against a tax boost, and insist on reduced spending."

However, Speaker John W. McCormack called the proposal "not only fair but necessary." He predicted it would win popular support. He stopped short of predicting that Congress would enact it this year.

Johnson's proposed new surtaxes would yield $6.3 billion in additional revenues for the 1968 fiscal year, which began on July 1, and "somewhat more in fiscal 1969," Johnson said.

In disclosing the Vietnam troop increase, Johnson said it is possible that defense spending in fiscal 1968 may exceed his January budget figure by $4 billion.

As he did when he advanced the 6 per cent proposal in January, Johnson said, "These are surcharges on taxes, not on incomes."

He said the 16 million taxpayers in the lowest income brackets would be completely exempt from the surcharge. For example, a married couple with two children with an income of less than $5,000 a year, would pay no surcharge.

VIOLENCE

respite in the almost nightly spread of violence came during the July 4th holiday week. At the end of that week, on July 9, racial disorder broke out in Kansas City, Mo., and has spread to at least one new city each night since then.

Developments at a glance:

Sandusky, Ohio—Teen-agers toss two firebombs at shopping centers, causing little damage; but police said the incident could be "related" to the firebombing and vandalism of Negro homes by whites less than 48 hours earlier.

Milwaukee — City registered fourth death in four nights of racial trouble when police killed suspected Negro arsonist; Negro gangs set fires in sealed-off trouble area.

Peoria—Negroes assembled at two fires and pelted policemen and firemen with rocks when they answered alarms.

Providence — Firebombs hurled at home and store; force of 250 policemen patroled tense trouble area with 42 state troopers standing in reserve; mayor clamped "selective curfew" on city.

Detroit—Appearing in the city that experienced the worst racial violence in modern history, Vice President Hubert Humphrey promised that "The rule of the jungle will not prevail" in the United States. Humphrey toured the riot area and said he believes the nation "will make it through" the riot crisis. He also called for a "Marshall Plan" for America's impoverished areas as one means of preventing racial violence.

Youth Missing From His Home In Novato

David R. Minard Jr., 15, missing from his home at 5 Norma Court, Novato, has not been seen since he left at 7:30 a.m. last Friday to go to summer school, his father, David R. Minard Sr. reported to Novato police.

Minard said that he felt that his son might have gone to the Haight-Ashbury district of San Francisco. The boy was described as six feet one inch tall, of slim build weighing 135 pounds with light brown hair and green eyes. When he left home, he was wearing green pants and blue and yellow long sleeved shirt, Novato police reported.

Cheryl Denise Graul, 16, daughter of M/Sgt. and Mrs. Harlan E. Graul of 242 San Jose Boulevard, Novato, who had been missing since last Saturday, returned home yesterday.

a patrol car. A check of the cell disclosed no ball-point pen or other weapon, but the empty syringe and a plastic toothbrush cover were found hidden behind a partition, they added.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw said today no assault charge will be filed pending further investigation. He said because several inmates were in the cell, there is apparently insufficient evidence to file a complaint in the syringe matter.

25-Acre Fire Burns Grass, Fences, Trees

Fire, thought to have been caused by a cigarette thrown from a passing car yesterday, burned grass in a vacant lot on Cielo Lane, Novato, and quickly spread to the hillside above.

It burned approximately 25 acres of grass and brush on the land belonging to Kaehler-Ferrar west of Highway 101 opposite Hamilton Air Force Base, said Fire Chief George Cavallero.

The Novato Fire Department, called at 2:19 p.m., was assisted by two fire trucks each from Hamilton Air Force Base Fire Department and the Marin County Fire Department.

The fire did minor damage to fences and abandoned fruit trees, the fire chief said.

Novato Pair Just Shaken In Collision

Two Novato youths escaped serious injury yesterday when the car in which they were riding collided with another and overturned just outside the city limits.

The collision occurred at 8:30 p.m. on Novato Boulevard west of San Marin Drive.

California Highway Patrol reported that an eastbound car driven by James Henry Dunham, 17, of 1379 Joyce Street, Novato, started to pass another driven by Clyde Henry Shaw Jr., 16, of 1455 Pastel Lane, Novato, and struck the rear of Shaw's car, then spun, turned over, and landed against a power pole.

Douglas Krause, 18, of 2 Truman Drive, Novato, a passenger in Dunham's car, was reported in good condition today at Novato General Hospital with head scrapes.

Dunham refused hospitalization for minor injuries, CHP reported.

A second passenger in the Dunham car, Neil Cuzner, 15, of 1435 Buchanan Street, Novato, was examined at the hospital but reportedly had no apparent injuries. Shaw was not injured.

Pacific Gas and Electric Co. reported there was no interruption of services due to the accident.

WAR

the winds blew the flames away from vital supply stores.

In Saigon, spokesmen said that last week the United States suffered 114 men killed, 893 wounded and 5 missing. It was the lowest casualty toll since Feb. 18 and reflected a week of relatively minor action.

The communists fared worse. Allied spokesmen said 1,399 communists were known to have been killed in action in the week. It was the lowest Red dead figure since the week ending June 10 when they lost 1,153 men.

It raised to 217,000 the number of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops killed in the war. American war totals stood at 12,430 men killed, 74,818 wounded and 686 missing in action.

Also killed in action last week were 61 South Vietnamese and 30 other allied troops.

American spokesmen announced that 400 miles north of Saigon U.S. Marines had launched new major drives, Pike and Kangaroo kick, against communist forces in the strategic northern provinces.

In the air war, American jet pilots flew 161 missions—the North Vietnam Wednesday. The pilots hit rail and power plant targets near Hanoi, spokesmen said.

Development Wins Approval

Sausalito Planning Commission last night approved a conditional use permit application by Moramonte Investment Co. for planned unit development of 16 single-family houses on about two acres of land at the intersection of Butte Street and Highway 101 right-of-way.

The houses will be clustered on the flat portion of the site, preserving the steep portion as open area.

Commissioners also approved renewal of a conditional use permit granted last year to United Sand and Gravel Co. to continue operation of its waterfront sand and gravel materials yard.

Woman Hospitalized

Mrs. Ruth I. Johns, 48, of 33 Ash Avenue, Corte Madera, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital where she was taken after she became ill at her home yesterday at 6:40 p.m. Firemen administered oxygen until an ambulance arrived.

Bolinas-Stinson School District trustees last night adopted a $178,430 budget for fiscal 1967-68, reported Recording Secretary Beverly Alberigi.

Tight Controls May Be Reason For Spiritless Viet Election

SAIGON (AP) — Almost every detail, down to the number of minutes each candidate can speak, is under control in the regulations for South Vietnam's presidential election. The campaign is officially under way today, giving candidates exactly a month to woo the voters.

So far the election has generated little excitement, even among the candidates. The most prominent ticket, headed by Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu with Premier Nguyen Cao Ky running for vice president, indicates it will not campaign strongly.

The Central Election Committee has scheduled a plane trip to 22 locations in the same number of days for all candidates. Candidates or their representatives will appear in a predetermined order at each of the 22 spots and give a speech of set length.

A spokesman said Thieu will go to only about two of the places, one of them in Saigon, to campaign personally. Ky's spokesmen say he will "concentrate on his job as prime minister."

A representative will appear for the Thieu-Ky ticket on the other occasions.

The two leading civilian candidates, both in their 60s, will let representatives do most of the traveling. "I am too old to do any traveling," says Tran Van Huong. Phan Khac Suu, who has served as chairman of the provisional assembly, also has indicated he will do most of his campaigning from Saigon.

Other candidates on the government-sponsored trips will talk only in the 22 largest cities. No one will campaign personally in smaller cities nor in thousands of villages and hamlets.

Thus only a very small percentage of South Vietnam's 5.4 million registered voters will face the candidates. Many will see the names for the first time when they get ballots Sept. 3, election day.

Captured documents indicate the Viet Cong is gearing for a strong attack against the election. The documents talk of assassinations, increased propaganda, warnings to local officials, stealing ballot boxes and any other means to make the elections flounder.

U.S. officials support a "get-out-the-vote" campaign, spread evenly among the tickets. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker has told Vietnamese journalists that the United States supports no individual.

Purse Is Stolen

Louise Methida of 22 Valencia Street, San Rafael, told police yesterday that while she was out for a walk between 8 and 8:30 p.m. Tuesday night someone entered her locked house and stole a purse containing $10 in cash and several credit cards.

Jayne Mansfield Pets For Sale

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A dozen pets of the late actress Jayne Mansfield are being offered for sale.

Matt Cimber, the star's third husband and temporary administrator of her estate, had the menageries removed from her famed pink mansion to a pet shop.

Cimber announced yesterday that bids are being sought on the pets — an ocelot, two afghans, a Venezuelan terrier, five kittens, a talking Mynah bird and two chihuahuas named Dorothy and Cow.

Auto Is Looted

Alice Myles of 16 Diego Drive, San Rafael, told police today that a sleeping bag with the words, "Be Prepared," stamped on it, was taken from her unlocked auto Tuesday night.

Innocent Plea To Cycle Theft

Thomas Haskell Thompson Jr., 20, pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court Monday to a felony charge of motorcycle theft.

Preliminary hearing was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Friday. Thompson, of 54 Fair Drive, San Rafael, allegedly took the vehicle from William Morris Burns of 23 Tamalpais Avenue, Mill Valley, July 2.

Smog Reading Rose Fraction Last Year

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A minor increase of only 0.1 per cent in air pollutants during 1966 was reported yesterday by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

Executive Director D. J. Callaghan told the board, "We have reached the point where actual reductions of pollutants under existing district regulations are being offset by population growth, with new apartments, institutions and industries continually adding new sources."

Callaghan said the effects of motor vehicle controls are beginning to show in reduced organic and carbon monoxide emissions.

More progress was predicted for next year when regulations go into effect controlling invisible organic emissions which form photochemical smog. Callaghan said the regulations will ultimately reduce the emission of smog-producing hydrocarbons by more than 50 tons a day.

Callaghan also listed, among plans for the near future, drafting of regulations banning backyard burning.

Homeowners Set Fall Garden Tour

Marin City Homeowners and Improvement Association Directors last night set a walking garden tour of the community on Sept. 17 from 2 to 5 p.m., reported Mrs. Juanita Cobb, association president.

Details of the tour will be announced later, she said. The association hopes to make the tour an annual event, she reported.

Directors also discussed, but took no action, on proposed formation of a committee to welcome new residents to the community.

Poor Condition

Richard Allen Schomaker, 33, of 9 Carlson Avenue, San Anselmo, remained in poor condition today at Marin General Hospital with fractured ribs and chest suffered when his car crashed into a truck trailer rig Tuesday on Waldo Grade, Highway 101.

Smoke Jumpers Will Fight 300-Acre Fire In Sierra

SONORA (AP)—Smoke jumpers were called today to battle California's first major forest fire of the year — a 300-acre blaze near the Dardanelle resort, 50 miles east of Sonora in the Sierra Nevada.

Some 425 men fought the fire yesterday in Stanislaus National Forest near State Highway 108, the Sonora Pass.

The U.S. Forest Service said the blaze was man-caused and was being investigated.

By this morning the service was able to get lines around only 50 per cent of the burning timber.

Airplane tankers have dropped 15,400 gallons of fire retardant on the fire.

Almost half the 1,500 victims killed in earthquakes in the United States since its settlement died in the 1906 San Francisco disaster.

New Parking Study

The Corte Madera Village Square Association today discussed changing the recently imposed two-hour parking limit around the square to a four-hour limit on parts of Corte Madera Avenue, but decided to consult all of the merchants and property owners involved before presenting a new proposal to the Corte Madera Town Council.

Picnic Is Set

Tiburon Volunteer Firemen's Association last night scheduled an annual picnic for firemen and their families for Aug. 20 at 1 p.m., according to Lawrence J. Bogel. Plans were also discussed for the firemen's ball in October but no date was set.

LBJ's Romney Feud Hurts Crime Package

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's controversy with Michigan Gov. George Romney over use of federal troops in Detroit's riot could cost him needed House votes on a key amendment to the administration's anticrime bill.

A GOP move to shift control of the bill's proposed crime control program from the federal government to the states has strong partywide backing and potential help of Southern Democrats. Also expected to win strong support is an amendment calling for special training for police in antiriot techniques.

The bill, heart of Johnson's anticrime program, would authorize $50 million for grants to local police departments to improve their training and recruitment programs and modernize their equipment.

The administration has said it would ask for $300 million next year and $1 billion the following year.

The money would flow directly between the attorney general's office and the local departments, with governors given the right to review and evaluate grant applications, but not veto them.

Charging this could lead to a federally controlled police system, Republicans are rallying support for their amendment to turn the money over to the states and let them make the grants to local agencies.

A GOP supporter of the administration bill said last night the widely publicized differences between Romney on one side and Johnson and Atty Gen. Ramsey Clark on the other over dispatch of federal troops to Detroit greatly weakened the administration's position in Republican ranks.

"They don't want to have Johnson and Clark telling their local police what to do," said the Republican, who was not identified.

Tiburon Girl Seriously Hurt In Fall

A 4-year-old Tiburon girl was seriously injured yesterday when she fell from a second-story bedroom window and landed on a concrete sidewalk.

Julie Ann Smith was reported in poor conditiontoday at Marin General Hospital with a fractured left leg and head injuries.

The child and her mother, Mrs. Harriet Smith, of 2 Lyford Drive, had gone to visit a friend, Mrs. Diana R. Kayler at 21 Lyford Drive, sheriff's Deputy John O. Goff reported.

While the two women were in the kitchen at about 5 p.m., Julie Ann went into the bedroom, Mrs. Smith told the deputy.

A few minutes later, she said, some children came to the door and said the girl had fallen from the bedroom window about 35 feet above the sidewalk.

The child was given first aid by the two women and the deputy, then by a doctor from Eagle Rock Medical Center, before the ambulance arrived.

Fate Of Rumford Act Now Rests In Senate

bill but hasn't commented publicly on whether he would sign the compromise version. He favored repeal during his 1966 election campaign.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, who drafted the compromise, warned the Assembly it could trigger "tumult and violence" by failing to modify the law or by repealing it.

"I am attempting to save a meaningful, although not too onerous, open housing statute for the urban State of California," he said.

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D - Inglewood, said the alternative to passing the bill would be to "invite the bigots of both sides to have a go at each other.

Assemblyman Willie Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, a Negro, opposed the Bagley proposal as a "tragedy."

Also strongly opposing the bill was Assemblyman Bill Greene, D-Los Angeles, also a Negro.

On the roll call, 24 Democrats and 22 Republicans voted for the bill while 18 Democrats, mainly liberals, and 14 Republicans, primarily conservatives, cast "no votes."

The powerful California Real Estate Association threw its weight against the modification —and for repeal.

The CREA maintained the modification bill was worse than the original Rumford Act. The CREA might put a Rumford Act real on the ballot in November if the legislature fails to act.

Fair Condition

No change was reported today in the fair condition of Frank Franulic, 22, of 265 Circle Drive, Tiburon, admitted to Marin General Hospital with multiple burns suffered when a can of chemical exploded as he lighted a flaming dessert at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael. He is a waiter at the restaurant.

New York and San Francisco are actually windier than Chicago, the so-called "Windy City," says the National eographic.

Reagan Busy In Hospital

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's aides are having difficulty keeping him confined to St. John's Hospital, where he underwent surgery Monday for removal of bladder stones and a benign sport from his lower lip.

"The guy couldn't be in better shape," said an aide yesterday, "and we're having difficulty keeping him down. He's experiencing no post-operative pain. He's walking around in his room and getting involved in work."

The governor was expected to check out of the hospital Saturday, then spend two weeks recuperating at his home in nearby Pacific Palisades.

Reagan's press secretary, Lynn Nofziger, said a guard has been posted at the hospital around-the-clock. "With the unrest in the country, we'd feel remiss in not having a man in the adjoining room," Nofziger said.

School Tax Bills Face Compromise

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Legislation increasing support of public schools by $120 million this fiscal year has gained Senate approval.

The measure, originated by Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, was returned to the Assembly yesterday for consideration of extensive Senate amendments.

Sen. Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, Senate sponsor of the bill, said he understood the Assembly would reject the amendments, sending the bill to a conference committee.

Unruh's original bill was a $375 million package that would have provided $175 million for increased school aid and $200 million for property tax relief.

Senate committees, however, amended the bill to include provisions of a measure by Sen. George Miller Jr., D-Martinez, providing a $120 million school program. The Miller version contains $87 million for increased state aid to local school districts and funds to improve kindergarten, reading, mathematics and state children's center programs.

Mink Stole, TV Set, Radio, Coats Stolen

Burglars looted a hmoe near Fairfax of $2,865 worth of items including a $2,000 mink stole, sheriff's deputies said today.

Frank A. Fuchs, 2600 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, reported Tuesday that someone jimmied his front door for entry. Other articles taken, he said, were a radio, three coats, a television set, an iron, a $100 stickpin, and two car motor valve covers.

Shirley's Hat Still Not In Ring

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Shirley Temple Black expects to announce her decision next week on running as a Republican candidate for Congress.

"I have been receiving fantastic support urging that I be a candidate," the former child movie star said yesterday. She now lives in Woodside as Mrs. Charles A. Black, housewife.

She said she was giving very serious consideration to entering the Nov. 14 special election race for the 11th District seat vacated by the death of Rep. J. Arthur Younger, San Mateo Republican.

If she follows the course of fellow acting professionals Sen. George Murphy and Gov. Ronald Reagan, Mrs. Black would become the fifth Republican contender to seek the seat formerly held by Younger.

Already announced candidates are Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore; Robert R. Barry of Woodside, former New York Congressman; William Draper III, Atherton investment executive, and Paul N. McCloskey, Portola Valley attorney.

Announced Democratic candidates are Edward Keating, Atherton attorney and founder of Ramparts magazine, and Roy Archibald, San Mateo city councilman and West Coast representative for the National Education Association.

Keith Sorenson, San Mateo County district attorney, declared his decision yesterday against running as a Democratic candidate. He declared his support for Archibald.

Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan, South San Francisco Democrat, earlier had announced his decision not to run and also pledged his backing for Archibald.

Dr. Julio Bortolazzo, College of San Mateo president, said yesterday he reluctantly had decided against entering the field of Republican contenders.

A vocal critic of U.S. Vietnam policy, Bortolazzo said he would like to see a halt to bombing of North Vietnam and a 60-day recess in action along the Demilitarized Zone while earnest efforts were made to bring Ho Chi Minh to the peace table.

He said the U.S. campaign to make Southeast Asia safe for democracy was an ironic one "when within our own borders we have failed so tragically to approach that same objective in Newark, Detroit, Watts, and other ghetto - infested areas throughout the nation."

Bortolazzo indicated no choice for his support among the announced Republican contenders.

If no candidate polls more than 50 per cent of the Nov. 14 vote, a runoff will be held Dec. 12 between the highest Republican and highest Democratic vote getters.

McCloskey, a moderate Republican who was a leading foe of proposition 14, the initiative to repeal California's open housing laws, sharply criticized Draper for charging that racial rioting bears "all the marks of Communist — trained vicious Red operators."

McCloskey said he would prefer "to ask for the faith of Republicans that cool heads will restore peace and order without the need for assessing instant blame on a partisan basis."

McCloskey also suggested that Republicans refrain from using such terms as "mad dogs" in political debate on race disorders.

He did not name Gov. Ronald Reagan but the governor in a July 25 news conference comment on the Detroit rioting said such disorders "are no longer connected with civil rights..."

"These are riots of the law breakers and the mad dogs against the people." Reagan said.

In his comment McCoskey said, "I would urge on my fellow Republicans that the use of such terms as 'mad dogs' is inconsistent with historic Republican concepts of the dignity of the individual."

Ghost Votes Drawing Lawmaker's Attack

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Republican Leader Robert Monagan wants to put a stop to the "gentlemen's agreement" procedure which permits assemblymen to cast votes for absent colleagues.

Monagan objected yesterday when a controversial bill was passed by a 41-21 vote with only 50 of the 80 assemblymen actually present. A bill needs at least 41 votes for passage.

The Assembly votes by a roll call machine with members pushing a switch from "yes" to "no." It has been a common practice for years for members to record the votes of absent lawmakers on non-controversial legislation.

But the procedure is seldom used when bills have substantial opposition.

The dispute concerned a bill by Sen. Alfred H. Song, D-Monterey Park, requiring county clerks to make available at polling places sample ballots printed in Spanish.

Opponents of the measure conceded that it had enough support to pass. But Assemblyman Charles J. Conrad, R-Sherman Oaks, said backers of the bill should have been brought into the chamber to vote in person instead of casting phantom proxie votes.

Legal Rights Bill In Assembly

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly was ready today for final action on a bill giving juveniles the same chance for a day in court as is now given to adults.

The Senate voted 23-7 yesterday for the bill by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside. The Assembly now must consider Senate amendments.

The measure, aimed at implementing a 1967 U.S. Supreme Court decision, would require a juvenile to be told of his right to an attorney following his arrest, and of his right to remain silent. But amendments have been added exempting juvenile courts from using the same strict evidence rules used in adult courts.

Weapons Control Bills Gain

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly - passed legislation tightening gun control laws in an effort to drive private arsenals out of California has been approved by the Senate.

The measures were returned to the Assembly for consideration of Senate-amendments.

Three bills in the package by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, passed the Senate yesterday. A fourth bill was approved earlier by the upper house.

Key bills in the package outlaw possession of heavy military weapons.

Sen. George Deukmejian, R - Long Beach, Senate sponsor of the legislation, said it was needed to tighten controls on private armies and paramilitary organizations.

The bills are supported by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch.

But Sen. John G. Schmitz, R-Tustin, said the measure would harass legitimate citizens who are weapons collectors. He said earlier that private citizens need heavy weaponry to protect themselves from riots.

Sausalito Arts Fair Deadline Set

Deadline for Marin artists to apply for the 1967 Sausalito Arts Festival is Aug. 15, festival co-chairmen Michael Bry and William Kirsch said today.

The festival will be Sept. 2-4 in the Bank of America parking lot.

Applications for exhibit spaces and participation in the performing arts section are available at Creative Arts, 22 El Portal, Sausalito.

Many of the 94 exhibit spaces have been filled by invitation but spaces still are available. Work of artists applying will be screened before acceptance.

Cash prizes totaling $2,000 — three $500 first prizes and five $100 awards — will be given. Judging will be by participating artists instead of by a panel of judges.

The festival, sponsored by Sausalito Arts Association, will be from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily.

Suspect Released From County Jail

David Jasper Carini, 18, was released from county jail yesterday pending further investigation of his allegedly having an illegal dagger-type knife in his possession.

Carini, of 149 Roque Moraes, Mill Valley, was arrested yesterday by California Highway Patrol who halted him to question why he was hitchhiking at 4 a.m. The knife was found in his boot, they said.

Car-Using Commuters Opposed During Bridge Deck Discussion

"The automobile in San Francisco is very like cancer," Marin Supervisor Peter H. Behr said today. "It will metastasize, and it is terminal."

Behr participated this morning in a discussion of a second deck for the Golden Gate Bridge on radio station KTIM's Marin Sounding Board Program.

If a second deck is necessary for balanced transportation, Behr said he would vote for it, but he opposed promoting auto access to San Francisco as self-defeating.

He was joined by John E. Dearman of San Francisco, only member of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board who opposed ordering engineering studies for a second deck.

Dearman objected to increased smog, heavy traffic and the high cost of freeways and approaches which he said would come from encouraging private commuter traffic.

The cost of double decking, he said, would be better spent setting up a rapid transit system.

Lowell Eddington, Napa County member of the bridge district board, defended the second deck proposal as a first-step solution to commuter problems and called it feasible financially and physically. Eddington replaced Thomas Hardcastle of Novato, who could not appear on the program.

William J. Adams of Novato, a Marin Transit District Board member said the second decks only part of the answer to the basic transportation problem between San Francisco and the north counties.

Transportation is in a "state of crisis," Adams said, and a commute bus system is the only short term solution. The area is financially incapable of building other systems to carry large numbers, he said.

The bridge district is "in an ideal position" to set up a modern bus transit system for the area, he said. Second decking the bridge should come after the bus system is established, he recommended

The proper use of the proposed second deck was also contested among the panelists.

Dearman said the deck should be used only for rapid transit. Eddington favored limiting the four-lane lower deck to cars, with one-way traffic going to San Francisco in the morning and to Marin in the afternoon.

Dearman said the San Francisco supervisors are "furious" because the bridge board did not consult with them before ordering the second deck study. Eddington asserted the board had given plans to the city's engineering staff as requested, but had received no reply.

Behr, pointing out that San Francisco now has a density of 7,500 cars per square mile, said that the automobile in the city is obsolete. Governments will have to take "expensive and risky" steps to meet the problem, he said.

The program will be rebroadcast at 9 p.m. today on KTIM.

Shift Lever Broken

Kenneth Robert Shine, 19, of 19 Clair Way, Tiburon, reported to sheriff's deputies yesterday that, while his car was parked next to the Corner Market on Tiburon Boulevard between 8 p.m. and 11:30 p.m., the gear shift lever was broken off at the steering column. The car had been unlocked.

Five Marin Smog Actions In Month

Five Marin County violations of air pollution control regulations were listed yesterday in the July report of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

Action is still pending against three firms charged with violations, Arrow Rentals of Larkspur, Sausalito Nursery and McPhail's, Inc., of San Rafel, the district reported.

Action has been completed, meaning the reported violations have stopped, in the cases of Noel and Associates and Zack's Restaurant, both in Sausalito.

Area-wide pollution for 1966 increased less than 1 per cent over 1965, executive director D. J. Callaghan told the board in a report on the year's activities.

The daily emission of pollutants was 3,394 tons in 1965 and 3,397 tons in 1966, Callaghan said. He predicted more progress in January when a new regulation on emission of paints, solvents and organic compounds goes into effect.

Drivers Injured In Collision

Drivers of two cars suffered minor injuries at 11:50 p.m. yesterday in an accident on Novato Boulevard at Wilson Avenue, Novato police reported.

George Tipton Bonomolo, 18, of 201 San Felipe Way, Novato, complained of a pain in his neck and A/2c Harold Arnold Kofoed Jr. of the 78th Security Police at Hamilton Air Force Base, received a bump on his right knee, police said.

Both cars were east bound on Novato Boulevard when Kofoed's car collided with the rear of the Bonomolo car.

(Independent-Journal Photo)

Volunteers At San Quentin Spend Hours On Ditty Bags

San Quentin inmates volunteered, and Marin Red Cross accepted. The results were several cartons of ditty bags, a work of charity finished, and closer personal contact by inmates with society.

Inmate Jeff Cooper and three others who want to remain anonymous, yesterday morning turned over to the Marin Red Cross 600 cloth ditty bags they made for Vietnam servicemen.

San Quentin inmates appealed in the prison newspaper last September for voluntary projects they might work on to help Marin communities. The appeal was reported in an Independent-Journal editorial last Sept. 22 where it was read by the chairman of Marin Red Cross volunteers, Mrs. Josephine Ingram of 2 Lagoon Road, Belvedere.

With prison approval, she supplied inmate volunteers with the blue denim cloth for the ditty bags. The four inmates worked several months sewing the cloth and attaching drawstring closures.

The ditty bags will be filled by the Red Cross with small gifts such as toilet articles and games. They will be shipped about Oct. 15 to arrive in Vietnam for Christmas distribution to servicemen.

Mrs. Ingram said the name of each donor is usually to be found on a slip of paper in the ditty bag "so that servicemen know whom to thank." The slips in these bags, she said, will simply read, "Made by volunteers at San Quentin Prison, California."

Senior Citizens Booth Is Slated

A "Fiesta of Arts and Crafts" booth will be operated by the Center Senior Advisory Board from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Aug. 12, at the Charity Fair on the Northgate Shopping Center mall, the San Rafael Recreation and Park Department has announced.

The booth, run by Mrs. Matt Graham and Mrs. Margot Bull, will offer for sale a variety of objects made by the senior group.

Alaska Peak Rescue Try Abandoned

MOUNT McKINLEY NATIONAL PARK, Alaska (UP)—Seven climbers who conquered North America's loftiest peak lie entombed in ice and snow, probably killed by vicious winds which also kept rescuers from recovering their bodies.

The search was abandoned yesterday because further efforts would be hazardous, according to Park Ranger Art Hayes.

The climbers radioed from the south peak of 20,270-foot Mount McKinley July 18 that all was well and they were making their descent. That was their last message.

Hayes said they were apparently swept off a ridge by winds blowing 80-150 miles an hour.

A five-man search team found three bodies at the 18,000-foot level Saturday but was forced to climb down to the 12,000-foot level by a storm which lasted until Tuesday. The team could not bring down the bodies.

Hayes said a reconnaissance flight yesterday failed to turn up any trace of the four missing men or the three bodies. He added they were probably buried in ice and snow.

Rangers gave up all hope any of the climbers survived even though emergency food caches and shelters were located on the slopes.

The victims were Stephen A. Taylor, Chicago; Jerry Clark, 31, a University of Oregon student from Syracuse, Ind.; Hank Janes, 25, Portland, Ore.; Dennis Luchterland, 24, Scarsdale, N.Y.; Clark McLaughlin, 23, and John Russell, Eugene, Ore.; and Walter W. Taylor, 24, West Lafayette, Ind.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Old Girl Takes Dog's Medicine And Feels Just Like New Woman

DEAR HELEN:
It's about time for another column of hoaxes, isn't it? Please oblige.
—THE APPRECIATORS

DEAR AP:
Evidently hoaxers hit a summer slump. The following letters aren't really their best effort but they'll have to do.

DEAR HELEN:
Our dog was all stove up, like with rheumatism. I took him to the vet and he gave him some medicine that made a new dog of him.
I had the same symptoms, so I took some of my pooch's medicine. Now I feel like a new woman. Do you think I should continue?
—ARTHUR

DEAR ARTHUR:
Uh-uh! You might start chasing cars — too! —H.

DEAR HELEN:
I'm 28 years old. My parents won't let me out on dates. My father whips me when I get a telephone call from a man. When we go out to eat, my father holds my hand so I won't leave. They're afraid I'll elope like my two sisters did at ages 15. They have my brother tutored so he won't meet girls. Am I gonna be an —OLD MAID?

DEAR O.M.:
Ask me 20 years from now. Your handwriting indicates you aren't much over age—14. H.

DEAR HELEN:
My brother and I are 16 and 17. A couple of weeks ago we had a big orgy (beer party) at our house because my parents were on a business trip over the weekend. They surprised us and came home in the midst. What a surprise! Dad ordered everybody home, embarrassing us to death and, to make matters worst, we are grounded for six months including the use of our new M.G. and the telephone.
Everybody has orgies. Is this fair, just because we got caught?
— REJECTED TEEN-AGERS

DEAR R. T.:
I think it's ginger peachy, myself. They should have SOLD your new M.G. —H.

DEAR HELEN:
My dog is my problem. He thinks he's human. He eats at the table, sleeps between sheets in the guest bedroom, even reads the paper with my husband. He doesn't even bark when he gets mad. He just stares with his heart in his eyes. He has opposite political views to us, so this makes it bad. Sometimes he chews up the editorial page of our newspaper.
The worst thing is I think he's breaking up our marriage. My husband gets jealous when he stares at me. My husband is kind of a lunk anyway.
How can I break it to him that he is a dog without hurting his feelings? —HELPLESS

DEAR HELPLESS:
. . . Break it to which one? Well, anyway—Why don't you write him a letter? —H.

DEAR HELEN:
I asked a hippie why he wore bells on his ankles and he said, "Well, you see, I'm trying to find myself, and when I hear the bells, I know I'm around here somewhere." —DAVE

DEAR DAVE:
Very funny, but it's a lift from Herb Caen's column in the San Francisco Chronicle, and I believe the originator of the joke was Comedian Ronnie Schell.
Please kids, when you crack wise, be original! —H.

Shopping in the Village with Carol King and Pat Reynolds

Town & Country Village

Warm summer evenings are the perfect browsing time in The Village. All shops are open Wednesday evening and many are open on Friday evening also. There are "treasures" for the whole family in The Village shops, even for the family pets. Window shoppers are always welcome at Strawberry!

Poking around in one of The Village's newest shops, THE GOLDEN CHERUB, we were amazed (and delighted) by the fine selection of modestly priced hostess gifts. As for towels and accessories . . . well! If you think you've redecorated the bathroom by picking up a few things at the last White Sale, then look in here, dear, and you may find your ideas as passe' as the half moon on the door.

If the backyard barbecue loses a bit of its appeal about now, let HICK'RY PIT take over the barbecue cookery. Their barbecued steaks, done to perfection over a sizzling wood fire, just can't be beat . . . and, every member of your tribe will love HICK'RY PIT meaty spareribs . . . the best finger-licking there is!

Step right into ROSE BROWN (formerly of Carmel) and meet Fashions by Suzi. These are brand new on the fashion scene and doing things with navy denim that have never been done before.

Whoops! We tripped over Christmas again at IDEAL STATIONERS. They have 20, count 'em, 20 books of Christmas cards for you to browse through and are offering 10% off on the regular price now, too. The nice people at this shop will let you take a few books home overnight, if you just can't decide . . . or they'll deliver a representative collection to your home or office for a leisurely selection . . . phone 383-2600.

Found two happily priced sale items at HAPPY HOUSE . . . an 8 in. copper fry pan for $7.95 (reg. $9.95) and a 24 oz. chrome cocktail shaker for $2.95 (reg. $4.75). A rather fantastic assortment of pepper mill sets at HAPPY HOUSE in more sizes and styles than you can imagine. We especially like the bright colors of some wooden sets that would be great on the patio, breakfast table or to dress-up the old kitchen range.

Summertime luncheons at KUBLAI KHAN are delightful. The menu is nicely varied, decor is pleasing, service is excellent and the table appointments are perfectly beautiful. And there's no law that you must be a merchant to enjoy one of their $1.45 Merchant's Luncheons!

Now! At last! By popular demand! MUTTS OF MARIN has a new supply of all-metal Super Duper Pooper Scoopers (in two sizes, yet!). And if you don't know what they are, you don't need 'em!

Excellent eye-care services are available in The Village from Dr. Joseph Pompura, VILLAGE OPTOMETRIST. Thoughtful office hours here . . . Mon. through Sat. from 10 to 6 (Wednesday is by appointment only . . . phone 388-3230). If vacation rough-housing takes its toll of eye glass frames, Dr. Pompura can help with speedy repairs.

Found an "isthmus of Christmas" at ALBERTA OF MARIN, connecting August and December. In short, ALBERTA'S Christmas decoration classes have started so be sure to sign-up for the know-how behind these inventive arrangements.

Besides good food, served in an informal, cafeteria style, SI'S HOF-BROILER must be Marin's friendliest sing-along spot. On Friday and Saturday nights until midnight, you'll find manager Johnnie Robinson presiding at a big ol', handsomely carved piano and turning out tunes appropriate to SI'S Piccadilly Style Fish and Chips. All other days SI'S is open 11 to 9 and you're likely to find Johnnie at the piano then too, should the spirit move him.

For unusual and always appreciated gifts, we suggest FIESTA CANDLE SHOP. The collection of candles here must be unsurpassed and their decorative accessories are lovely. We have often combined a short, chubby candle with an appropriate holder or candlestick and, sometime later, added a wreath of artificial blooms for seasonal accents. Stunning!

Bell bottom trousers with "coat" of darned near nothing at THE HOUR GLASS. We "sing" of slinky (and very pretty) nylon tricot pajamas styled with bell bottom pants and a mere suggestion of a sleeveless midriff top. Pure flattery available in solid colors or prints.

The fashion shops aren't the only ones who are "thinking autumn" these warm summer days. Louis Reimers, Master Chef at L'ENTREE, tells us it's not too soon to start reserving dates for his superb catering service for your fall parties. L'ENTREE catering is complete in every way and will "tackle" anything from intimate buffet cocktail parties to the grandest receptions.

Should you be a newlywed just starting to decorate your first home, or an oldy-wed trying to jazz-up the family pad . . . you will like the framing service at FU'S ART STUDIO. Their frames are custom designed by artists who know just how a painting should look.

VIETNAM SUMMER

Draft, War Opinions Clash During Debate

By GENE CRESCI

There were cookies, cake, fruit punch, people and talk about the draft and war at Mill Valley City Hall last night, but nothing was left over after two hours except more talk.

The session attended by about 130 people was led by Suzanne O'Hare of Vietnam Summer-Marin, and the announced topic for discussion was "The New Draft Law: White It Means To You."

But it became clear before many minutes that some in the council chamber were there to discuss why the meeting was being held at all.

INTERRUPTED

During his explanation of the draft law, Norman Leonard of the National Lawyer's Guild was frequently interrupted by anonymous grumbles and gripes from the audience, and one listener, Manuel Gomez, objected to implied criticisms of the draft law and the war in Vietnam.

Leonard resumed his discussion after pointing out that "to withold the right to speak . . . does a disservice to our country." He then spoke in detail on exemptions, amendments, mechanics, and changes in the draft law without further interruption.

The most piercing wails from the audience came after a brief talk by Ben Seaver, head of the Peace Education Office of the American Friends Service Committee in San Francisco. At one point a group suggested that those who disagreed with Seavers could go home, but most stayed for a while to hear the Quakers' condemnation of conscription and war and to agree or disagree in a question and answer period.

RATIONAL LEVEL

Bruce Malar, instructor at Diablo Valley College, moderated comments from the floor and at one point had to insist that speakers from the audience "keep this on a rational level."

Among comments were one by a teen-ager that the draft age be raised to 45; another by Fred Peters, Mill Valley businessman, that he and others had served in World War II, so young people should also serve.

Normand B. Black, Mill Valley planning commissioner, objected to the entire proceedings and particularly asked why Seaver "is here." He said Seaver's comments against the draft and war were "irrelevant" to the announced agenda. "He is doing a disservcie to young people by giving his point of view only."

TOWN MEETING

At that point the "town meeting" atmosphere broke under the volume of calls for recognition and comments from the floor, but Al Curtis, an engineer of Mill Valley, called for courtesy and reason and commented, "We should always question if laws are right." He won the loudest applause of the night.

The meeting was the first of several planned for Marin cities this summer by the sponsors, according to Suzanne O'Hare. Vietnam Summer — Marin has asked Sausalito city officials for permission to hold a similar session there, but without approval as yet.

"We're trying to hit every community in the county in the next five weeks," she said, "We feel strongly, as private citizens, about the war in Vietnam and want to start a dialogue in the community about the draft and about war," she said.

Canopy Said Too High At Station

Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee Tuesday night ordered that a canopy built at Barnes and Menzio Mobil Service Station, 630 East Blithedale Avenue, be lowered almost two feet.

The committee originally approved plans for the canopy with the understanding that its height would be the same as that of the service station, said Planning Director Harvey E. Bragdon. "Somewhere along the line the instructions to the contractor were fouled up," he said. He made it clear the error was not city hall's fault.

The city stopped construction last month when it discovered the error.

Mobil Oil Co. has agreed to lower the $18,000 steel canopy, but William T. Barnes, colessee, said today the architectural advisory committee "changed its mind after approving the plans."

Lowering the canopy will mean some of his 15 commercial accounts will be driven away because their trucks will not fit under a lower canopy, Barnes said.

Farm Exports Up

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Farm exports from the United States topped $6.9 billion in 1966, up 77 per cent from the 1955-59 average, according to Texas A&M University.

Portable TV Is Taken By Burglar

Burglars entered an open bathroom window of the home of Mrs. Frances G. Henson, 110 Loring Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, making off with loot including a $200 portable television set.

Sheriff's deputies said today the victim reported the loss Monday. Also taken were $200 worth of stereophonic equipment, a small quantity of jewelry, and five wrist watches.

The pocket mouse of western North America gets its name from its fur-lined cheek pouches.

Posters Removed From Trees, Poles

Corte Madera police last night removed orange and yellow "psychedelic" posters which had been placed on every tree and telephone pole on Tamalpais Boulevard between Madera Boulevard and Serra Street.

Police said the trees in front of the public safety building "were covered with them." The posters, removed as illegal signs, advertised a dance by the New Salvation Army banned this weekend in San Francisco.

Bodies Found In Light Plane, Jet Wreckage

INYOKERN (AP)—Searchers have located three bodies on the wreckage strewn slopes of Owens Peak in northeastern Kern County.

The county sheriff's dept. said the bodies were found late yesterday in wreckage of a private plane and a Navy jet. Debris from the two aircraft was spread over a two - mile area, about 25 miles northwest of the China Lake Naval Weapons Center.

Wreckage was found Tuesday and yesterday on opposite slopes of the 8,475 rugged mountain and sheriff's officers said the planes may have collided in the air over the peak, then crashed to earth.

Wreckage of a private Cessna 210 carrying three members of a prominent Nevada mining family was found on the northwest slope of the mountain. The navy plane crashed in flames on the opposite side of the peak, at about 8,100 foot level.

Serial numbers on the two yellow wings of the private plane matched those of an overdue airplane piloted by J. Louis Giroux, 37, of Reno, Nev. He was flying to Rialto, San Bernardino County, Tuesday with his wife, Marlene and mother Mrs. Roland Giroux.

The Navy pilot was identified as Lt. Cmdr. Thomas W.Ewall, 35, of Omaha, Neb., who was stationed at the China Lake center. Ewall was flying a routine training mission.

Giroux left the Reno airport early Tuesday, then reported his position north of the Bishop airport, about one hour before the crash. Giroux was flying to a funeral in San Bernardino for Mrs. Roland Giroux' father.

Teacher Hired At Point Reyes

Point Reyes School District board last night hired Mrs. Illa Donavon of Terra Linda to teach at the elementary school in 1967-68 at a salary of $8,300, according to J. H. Mendoza, board clerk.

Mrs. Donavon, replacing Mrs. Mary Poole who resigned last June, is a former teacher at the Point Reyes School.

Next meeting of the board will be Sept. 6 at the Mendoza home in Inverness.

Sausalito School Tax Rate Not Expected To Be Raised

Sausalito School District trustees last night adopted a $1,119,339 budget for fiscal 1967-68, reported Supt. Phillip W. Schneider.

The new budget is down $24,729 from last fiscal year, primarily because of reduced federal and state aid, said Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato.

The property tax rate probably will be unchanged from last fiscal year's rate of $2.985 per $100 assessed valuation, he said. The new rate will be set later this month.

The district expects $578,213 from secured property taxes this year — up $64,319 from last fiscal year.

Vote on the budget was 3-1, Trustee James E. Muldoon dissenting on the grounds of "over-all general dissatisfaction with its size." A budget with raises limited to automatic step increases," he argued, "should have been lower."

Muldoon, noting he was seated on the board July 1, said, "I really participated neither in the virtues nor vices of this budget, so I was in no position to nit-pick."

Trustee Bruce E. Woelfel was absent.

Biggest expenditures are $645,084 for teachers' salaries, and $173,236 for salaries of non-teaching employees.

Other major budget items are $45,579 for pupil transportation, $45,542 for capital expenditures, $75,923 for plant operation, and $41,506 for plant maintenance.

Undistributed reserve is $34,654.

A London chimp named "Congo" became a television personality between 1956 and 1959 by painting 384 pictures, some with a brush.

So Why Wasn't The Price The Same?

FOR A LOT OF REASONS. For one thing, the cost of the drug to different pharmacies may vary because of the volume purchased from the manufacturer. When you buy a lot you can afford to take a smaller profit. That figures, too. Or, the price could vary because a lot of "frills" like delivery service and charge accounts are included. And that certainly figures.

Any mystery left as to why the price is not the same all over? WELL, if there is, you can easily solve the "mystery" by a little personal sleuthing. It does not take a private eye to get to the bottom of it, either. Even an amateur detective like you can track down the answer. And you won't need a bloodhound or a magnifying glass to help you. All the "equipment" you need is the determination that you want your drug dollars to go as far as possible. So do a little investigating on your own by asking round town for price quotes on your prescriptions. Ask us at MAC PHARMACY too. We'll give you the FAMOUS MAC PRICE without any obligation at all.

At MAC PHARMACY you'll get a glimpse of volume in action. You'll see crowds that depend on us to make every possible economy in the pricing of drugs. You'll see your friends and neighbors—all part of our great family of sensible shoppers who know how to get full value. Any wonder MAC PHARMACY is part of an organization that fills over three million prescriptions a year? Well, it doesn't take a Sherlock Holmes to figure out why. Elementary, my dear prescription customer....elementary.

Sanitary Board Budget Delays

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board last night postponed to a special meeting next week any action on the district's fiscal 1968 budget because board member A. N. Nipper was absent.

The tentative budget totaling $140,000 will be considered Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the district office. Last year's budget totaled $139,000, and the tax rate was 11 cents per $100 assessed valuation, but District Mgr. Ralph C. Noah said he does not know yet what the tax rate for the present year will be.

JOSEPH B. LEACH
Quickly given task

Data Director Soon Given County Chore

Joseph B. Leach of Corte Madera, Marin's new director of data processing, was put quickly to work Tuesday.

The board of supervisors turned over to him for study a controversial contract proposed by System Development Corp. of Santa Monica to improve computer operations at a cost through next spring of an estimated $79,190.

Action on the contract had been deferred twice by the supervisors amid objections to high expenses and salaries for SDC employees.

The contract results from a $13,350 study of the county's data processing operations asked by the supervisors last year in the wake of complaints about limited use of the equipment, which rents at an annual rate of about $100,000.

Referral of the contract to Leach came several hours after the supervisors named him to the director's job at an annual salary of $20,000. Appointment followed a long private session in which the supervisors interviewed Leach and another candidate.

Leach, 40, of 231 Golden Hind Passage, becomes the county's fifth highest paid department head. He will resign from his current job as manager of the mathematics systems department of the Kaiser Engineers division of Kaiser Industries in Oakland, where he has been employed since 1958, and will officially start work at the Civic Center in three weeks.

Leach — who holds fine arts degrees from two colleges and is co-author of technical articles on computers — is married with two children. He has lived in Marin 11 years.

Horse Care Class To Start Aug. 19

The Humane Society of Marin County will hold its fourth annual horse care and instruction classes from 9 to 11 a.m., Saturdays, starting Aug. 19, at the Humane Education Center property, Bel Marin Boulevard and Hamilton Drive, Ignacio.

There is no fee for the six-week course. Registration may be made through the Humane Society at 402 Third Street, San Rafael.

Delinquency Hits 20-Year High On Marin Tax Bills

By DAVID DIETZ

Marin County's property tax delinquency rate for last year was placed today at 4.66 per cent, highest in 20 years.

Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said $2.2 million remains uncollected out of a total levy of $46.5 million for fiscal 1967.

While that delinquency sum is lower than the one allowed for in the adopted budget for fiscal 1968, Mitchell said, the extra $79,683 is not expected to have immediate effect on the estimated tax rate of $2.337 per $100 of assessed valuation.

This is because computation of carry-over funds from last year's budget has not been completed, although Mitchell doubted the total would be as high as expected, and because of the uncertainity of plans to use bonds or retirement funds to offset tax money for Juvenile Hall construction in Lucas Valley.

Mitchell also announced that the county could expect to pay an additional $20,000 to $25,000 in state sales taxes this year because of the recent increase voted by the legislature, but indicated this might by offset by state allotment of more funds from boosted cigarette tax for use by counties.

The deadline for paying 1967 real property taxes was June 30. Affected properties are sold at auction after five years if the taxes, plus interest, remain unpaid.

Mitchell gave these figures on delinquencies by city and districts as of July 10:

City of Sausalito, 6.74 per cent; Tiburon, 6.11 per cent; San Rafael, 4.45 per cent; Novato, 4.28 per cent; Fairfax, 4.21 per cent; San Anselmo, 3.60 per cent; Mill Valley, 3.44 per cent; Belvedere, 3.01 per cent; Ross, 2.68 per cent; Corte Madera, 2.25 per cent, and Larkspur, 1.28 per cent.

Elementary school districts: West Marin, 7.65 per cent; Laguna Joint, 7.40 per cent; Sausalito, 6.64 per cent; Bolinas-Stinson Union, 6.37 per cent; Lagunitas, 6.28 per cent; Mill Valley, 5.59 per cent; Fairfax, 4.95 per cent; Reed Union, 4.95 per cent; San Rafael, 4.66 per cent; San Anselmo, 3.73 per cent; Larkspur, 3.42 per cent Dixie, 2.76 per cent; Ross, 2.56 per cent; Kentfield, 1.91 per cent; Tomales Bay Union, 1.57 per cent; Nicasio, .23 of a per cent; Lincoln, .09 and American Valley, Point Reyes and Union Joint, all zero.

High school districts: Novato Unified, 6.58 per cent; Tomales Joint, 4.95 per cent; Tamalpais, 4.51 per cent; San Rafael, 4.13 per cent, and Petaluma-Lincoln, .07 of a per cent. Marin Junior College district has a rate of 4.68 per cent.

Highest among the service districts were: Bel-Marin Keys Community Service District, 30.21 per cent; Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District, 9.22 per cent; Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District, 8.89 per cent, and the Bel Aire Flood Control Zone, 8.53 per cent.

Appeal Hearing To Be Public

Edgar Pahillips, demoted Fairfax city employee, will have a public appeal hearing before the city's board of review at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Fairfax Women's Club.

Phillips' attorney asked for the open hearing yesterday. Under state law, such hearings are closed unless the employee wants them public.

Phillips was demoted, with no cut in pay, from street superintendent to street maintenance man on grounds he lacked administrative ability. The city council upheld the demotion.

If you had a dime or dozen for all the autos made in the United States during 1966, you'd have $71,000 says the Automobile Legal Association.

Five On Death Row Gain A Little Time

Five convicted murderers at San Quentin were given seven days of hope toady.

The scheduled hearing by a federal district court judge into a request that the death penalty in California be declared unconstitutional was postponed for a week.

Attorneys on behalf of inmates of San Quentin's Death Row will state their case before Judge Robert Peckham in San Francisco next Thursday at 10 a.m.

Judge Peckham said today the postponement was requested by the attorneys who said they were not ready to present the 95-page brief.

A stay on all executions at San Quentin has been in force since July 5 when the judge set the date for today's appeal.

The ban will remain until the hearing is held and the court hands down its decision. In effect, this latest postponement means an extra seven days of hope for five men whose executions were stayed by the judge's order a month ago.

Edward R. Arguello was to have died in the gas chamber July 11; William A. Tahl, July 13; Leaman R. Smith, July 18; Frederick Saterfield, July 20 and Dorman F. Talbot last Tuesday. No other inmates are scheduled to die before the new date of the hearing.

Basis of the appeal is on three points: that California law does not require provision of a lawyer for moneyless prisoners beyond appeal to the state supreme court; that prospective jurors who say they oppose the death penalty are often excluded from juries; and that no standards are set for a judge or jury to arrive at a decision on whether a person be condemned to death or have a lesser sentence.

Council Postpones Insurance Proposal

Larkspur City Councilmen were cool last night to a plan giving city employees their first health and accident insurance paid for by the city, saying that employees should contribute too.

The subject was continued to Sept. 1 for further study.

City Mgr. Kent Bathurst vouched for his proposed plan "A" from Prudential Insurance Co. of America, saying he had studied 50 plans. Almost 100 per cent of the 35 employees indicated interest in the plan, he said, which he selected because of its "flexibility."

Plan "A" calls for the city to pay the total amount of $7.45 per employee per month or $260 per month for all employees. Should an employee have dependents, that cost would be paid for by the employee. Total for a family with two dependents, Bathurst said, is $26 per month.

Councilman Vaughn Marker urged the council to decide first whether it wants to establish a medical program, then decide on how much to pay. Marker said the employee should also vote on whether he wants to enter the plan.

The council also appointed Administrative Assistant Robert C. Bundy city treasurer as of Jan. 1, on retirement of Mrs. Ruby Daly, finance officer. Bundy will remain as administrative assistant also.

It agreed to hire an account clerk Sept. 1 to understudy Mrs. Daly prior to her leaving. The council will eliminate on Jan. 1 the $40-a-month salary now being paid Mrs. Daly for her finance officer duties above her salary as city treasurer.

The council agreed to create the position of fire lieutenant with a salary range of $613 to $745, the slot to be filled Aug. 1. Councilman Neil R. Brixon stressed the need of a lieutenant to assume command of firemen when the chief is not present.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

BOUNDARIES — Directed Bathurst to appear before the Marin County Local Agency Formation Aug. 10 to support a proposal that Larkspur's boundaries include an area between Highway 101 and Point San Quentin, including the prison.

CREEK — Said it favors the present city boundary in the center of Corte Madera Creek north of Bon Air bridge as proposed in the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project, although the creek is to be realigned.

REZONINGS — Introduced ordinances to rezone the property of Councilman Neil R. Brixon at 30 La Cuesta Drive and 8.62 acres of Redwood High School from unclassified to single family residential.

SURVEY — Authorized $1,500 to $2,000, already budgeted, for a survey of property boundaries along Redwood Avenue and Oak Road.

SEWER LINE — Reaffirmed spending of $5,000, as budgeted, to make a three-month survey of the sewer line from College Park to the city's pump station on Dougherty Drive.

BUDGET — Set an adjourned meeting at 8 p.m., Aug. 23, to adopt the fiscal 1968 budget.

SB 1276 — Went on record opposing Senate Bill 1276 which would permit a utility company to impose a rate increase by filing a letter and then refund moneys paid by customers in event the courts did not allow the increase.

POLICE, PLANNING — Agreed to discuss a proposed county special police services bureau and a county-city planning commission Sept. 6.

SYMPHONY GUILD — Declined to contribute $246 to the Symphony Guild of Marin.

SCHOOL — Authorized $50 for Bathurst to attend an Intensive Management Seminar at Sonoma State College, evenings, Sept. 1 to Oct. 30.

WARRANTS — Approved warrants totaling $27,401.

Baker's Dozen Of Children Fills Rivas Household In San Anselmo

By BRUCE COLEMAN

And then there were 13.

"It's a baker's dozen," said Mrs. Marjorie Rivas, 41, proud mother who brought her latest offspring home to 1524 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, yesterday.

"No more," said her husband, Fred F. Rivas, "as long as we can help it. May God give us the blessing because it is really hard on the other children."

Rivas, a surveyor until about five years ago when he broke his back in an auto accident, tries to provide for his family by hauling, doing odd jobs and playing guitar and singing with a mariachi duo, "Los Tapatillos."

However, there are not enough of these jobs to meet the budget and so Ronald, 18, works as a chef's helper at Marin General Hospital and Carol, 17, works as a clerk for the City of San Anselmo. Both got their jobs under the Neighborhood Youth Program and work 32 hours per week at $1.30 per hour.

Both Ronald and Carol contribute toward the family's food and clothing. Two of the younger boys mow lawns, three girls baby sit and a fourth does housework "for a lady down the street."

"We also get state assistance," Rivas explained. "I'm praying the kids will get older so we can work for ourselves and not have to be assisted by the state."

Things are much better now than when the Rivas family moved to Marin from San Anotnio, Tex., almost five years ago. "We lived in a house with nothing in it and had to cook over a popcorn popper," Mrs. Rivas said.

"Through the Catholic Association and the Presbyterian Church, they provided us with a lot of our needs such as furniture, linens and dishes," Rivas declared. "I call it God's country here because people are so wonderful and always willing to help."

"It seems God always makes a way," Mrs. Rivas asserted. "It gets pretty dark sometimes."

Rivas said his family are Catholics and that both he and his wife come from large families. He is from a family of nine, she of eight. "I had an uncle and aunt who had 22 children," Rivas said.

The Rivas children are: Rita Sue, 22; Lonnie, 21; Ronald, 18; Carol, 17; Yvonne, 15; Rudy, 14; Jeanette, 13; Loretta, 11; Charles, 10; Patricia, 7; Darlene, 5; Abraham, 2; and Alma Louise, born Friday. All attend school except for the three eldest and two youngest.

Two other Rivas children died, one when two days old and one at 10 months. All of the 15 children were born in San Antonio, except for Abraham and Alma Louise, who were born at Marin General Hospital.

Two of the Rivas children, Rita Sue Hernandez and Lonnie, are married and live in San Rafael. Mrs. Hernandez has three children, Lonnie, one.

Mrs. Rivas makes bread tomales, flour tortillas and cans her own preserves to help make ends meet.

What are the problems of a large family? "Our biggest problem was in finding a house we could rent with so many children," Rivas replied. "The bathroom is the biggest problem," said Mrs. Hernandez. Rivas said that, when they go to a park, the family must travel in two cars and they use two old station wagons which the boys keep in repair.

The Rivas eat in two shifts, youngest ones first. They have three bedrooms but also use folding and rolling beds in the living room.

The benefits of a large family, Rivas added, include, having your own baby sitters, your own mechanics and, in the case of music, having your own band of musicians. Almost all the children play musical instruments.

"When we have a birthday, we all pitch in and play," said Rivas, who is Spanish, Irish and Cherokee.

"Alma was the first one to be born in July," Mrs. Rivas noted. "We didn't have one in July. Now there's one for every month."

Asked his age, Rivas said, "I was 44 on Father's Day."

Two Years Probation For Doctor

Alex H. Beaton, Greenbrae physician who had pleaded no-contest to two counts of making out false narcotics prescriptions, was put on two years probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Peter Allen Smith also directed the doctor to continue cooperation with the State Board of Medical Examiners, after defense attorney Roger P. Garety told the court Beaton had taken the initiative in advising the examining board of the misdemeanor violations.

Garety said Beaton showed "great courage and maturity" in his action and has already relinquished his license to prescribe narcotics.

Dr. Beaton, ear, nose and throat specialist with office at 599 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, issued the prescriptions June 26, 1966, and Feb. 1, 1967. The prescriptions were made out in the names of two office employees, but Dr. Beaton had the orders filled himself at pharmacies.

The prescriptions were for narcotics including codeine and percodan, investigators said, and neither employee was aware of the prescriptions being used.

Dr. Beaton entered his plea July 6.

Boy Cuts His Foot In Fall From Swing

Daniel Volmer, 7, son of Mrs. Dotty Volmer of 31A Edison Avenue, Corte Madera, suffered a cut foot when he fell from a rope swing at Ronald E. Piper Park in Larkspur yesterday at 4:40 p.m. according to Larkspur police.

Mrs. Volmer told police she would take him to a private physician.

New Weapons Law Aimed In The Right Direction

California's new gun law, aimed at curbing bands of armed gunmen from roaming the streets, was long overdue.

AB-1591, by Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Piedmont, is intended to curb aggressive actions in public while safeguarding every citizen's right to his weapons at home or for use in hunting and sporting.

Rifle groups, which have long opposed any new restriction on the purchase or possession of weapons, have been assured that the law does not hamper legitimate sportsmen in any way. Its purpose is to crack down on people with loaded weapons roaming city streets or other areas where it is against the law to discharge weapons.

The need for laws restricting the use of firearms came into sharper focus during the last two weeks.

The new law, signed by the governor last week, gives police the power to nip any armed insurrection in the bud. Police can now stop an armed person in a populated area and search him to make sure the weapon is not loaded.

Previous laws permitted a citizen to carry loaded weapons openly, wherever and whenever he pleased. Only if he began brandishing the weapon "in a rude and threatening manner" or if he actually used the weapon could he be arrested.

Armed bands like the group that invaded the state capitol last May could have incited rival groups to come marching out with their loaded weapons. This is the type of confrontation that the new law seeks to prevent.

The days of the Old West, when each man had to rely on his six-shooter and the speed of his draw for survival, are long gone. Trained law enforcement agencies have replaced the six-shooter and the frontiersman's rifle. That is the way it should be.

We applaud the Legislature for the new gun law. In its application, we hope that it will strike uniformly at all individuals and groups that are resorting to the arrogant display of weapons as a show of force.

The Running Battle

At our house we have a running verbal battle between the gardener and the animal-lover.

When the quail eat the petunias down to nubbins of stems, it's "Your old quail ate my petunias." And the reply, "Anybody can grow petunias, but it's a lucky garden that can boast about its quail."

The same struggle is waged over the roses and deer. But it is only a sham-battle. The animal lover doesn't want the gardener to cease her efforts; the gardener would be horrified at the mere thought of a bloody solution.

SYMPATHETIC DOCTOR INSPIRES TEEN-AGER

A teen-ager, who was expelled from high school seven times, finally made good in an unusual way, thanks to the understanding interest of a doctor.

The boy had given considerable trouble to his parents, teachers and the police. Then he happened to go to the doctor for a checkup.

In talking with the young man, the physician felt convinced that he had hidden talent and should be encouraged to develop it by continuing his schooling.

"Would you like to finish school?" he asked.

"I sure would!" the boy replied.

The doctor arranged for him to complete high school. Now he is in college and doing well.

Asked about his plans for the future, the student replied: "I want to be a teacher and help young men as that doctor helped me."

By assuring people, young or old, you imitate the Lord Himself who puts unending confidence in you.

You also do much to help others bring out their best when you focus on their capacity for good.

Licensing Boards Self-Serving, 'Little Hoover' Report Claims

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Commission on California State Government and Economy, better known as the "little Hoover Commission," has finally put in so many words what many people have suspected for a long time.

Discussing the department of professional and vocational standards after an 18-month study, the commission said:

"The report emphasizes that any licensing board is a restriction on the freedom of individuals and that far too often, a group within a business or a profession demands and obtains a licensing board from the legislature simply for the primary purpose of improving its own status or keeping out 'undesirable competition.'"

THE COMMISSION found that if protection of the public is the criterion, some of the existing licensing boards should be abolished, and that none of the new groups seeking to be licensed by the legislature this year meets the test.

It recommended that any board which regulated a business should be composed of a majority of public members who were not licensees of the business being regulated.

"At present," the commission stated, "one of the major criticisms is that most of the regulation is done by the business concerned for the benefit of a segment of that business."

THE REPORT HIT another sore spot in state government, and a costly one to the public. This is the matter of special funds built up to regulate business.

"One of the most important recommendations of the study is that all special funds be abolished, and license programs be financed from the general fund, and that all fees collected be deposited to the credit of that fund," said the report.

The report also recommended that fees be set only at the rate necessary to make each program self-sustaining.

THE COMMISSION recommended abolition of the boards of dry cleaners; marriage, family and child counselors; certified shorthand reporters; social work examiners, and yacht and ship brokers. Several mergers of other boards having related duties were recommended.

Unfortunately, the recommendations of the "little Hoover" commission cannot be implemented without legislation. This will be the greatest hurdle to jump, for when bills are introduced the high-powered lobbies of the licensees affected will put on a strong campaign to maintain the empire at the people's expense.

Gun Law Hinders Lawful Protection

Editor, Independent-Journal:

And so now we have a gun law — but who will it affect — surely not the criminal, the sniper and the potential murderer, only the law abiding citizenry who will lose another means of self-protection.

Our law enforcers have virtually lost control — vandals, looters, arsonists and snipers are operating openly. Our police are forced to handle the matter with kid gloves to keep from "creating a situation" and now the criminal element will be secure in the knowledge that law abiding citizens will have no weapons to retaliate in event of attack.

I don't think a "vote of confidence" would be given to our law makers or law enforcers in handling the current episodes (that take place in our area every day). I believe that it is the right of every individual to defend and protect his property and loved ones. Guns are necessary in these disturbed times! It should be kept in mind that people kill people, not guns.

Is Right Ox Being Gored?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In an article on July 27 you report that no action has been taken by the State Board of Pharmacy on two pharmacies for advertising low prescription prices. There seemed to be a little sumgness there, with the insinuation that the pharmacy board was afraid to proceed with the matter.

On the same date the Assembly voted 51-17 to defeat a bill by Sen. John F. McCarthy which would have eliminated the requirement that prevailing wage rates be published in newspapers of general circulation in connection with advertising for construction bids for public works. Assemblyman Bagley said the bill would save state agencies some $40,000 a year and would save more than that for local agencies.

The measure was opposed by the California Newspaper Publishers Association. It looks as though it depends on whose ox is being gored. If your concern is for the general public and not loss of advertising revenue, how come no editorial appeared about saving the public $40,000 and then some?

There are many other regulated items to which I heartily object such as the controlled price of milk and butter, paying $2.75 for a haircut and paying a plumber $20 for an hour and a quarter's work to install a water heater.

However I would hesitate to ask that these things be changed so that a few people can benefit and many suffer — in fact many industries that have taken many years to build into something stable and decent.

If any type of business becomes too affluent, immediately there is a rush to share the bonanza and things level out. Believe me there is no opulence in operating a pharmacy in Marin, just a living with sometimes a small return on the owner's investment.

Bolinas Move Has Opponents

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There must have been two meetings last Friday night in Bolinas to discuss incorporation, because the meeting described in Saturday's Independent-Journal ("Incorporation Move Launched By Citizens") could not possibly be the same meeting I attended, at which one citizen after another stood and spoke against incorporation citing various disadvantages. Large rounds of applause following their remarks (those speaking against) would seem to me to voice an endorsement for Bolinas to stay as it is, politically anyway.

In your story, you state: "Although there are some objections, most seemed interested in incorporation, reported (Joseph G.) Sheeks and A. C. Pfefferkorn, who heads the Lions Club Committee." At the meeting, the only persons who seemed "interested in incorporation" were Mr. Sheeks, the attorney representing the group; William R. Zion, who was retained to make the study, and Mr. Pfefferkorn, the apparent source of the quotation. This is a far cry from "most seemed interested" and "Citizens Launch Incorporation Move."

Perhaps you should check more closely on the accuracy of your informants before you presume to print a story complete with red banner headline above the masthead.

Judgment, Reason Needed

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Recently three members of the board of supervisors reversed themselves on a vote that had been unanimous 10 days earlier, regarding a prescribed density ratio for West Marin.

It is interesting to examine the reasoning by which this issue was reopened; what expediency dictated the reversal, or what eloquent persuasion land developers exercised on elected officials.

Certainly it is reasonable to acknowledge that density ratios may need re-examination every two or three years, as the population increase of the county necessitates.

But that does not indicate the validity of a reversal of vote 10 days after a unanimous decision had been reached. One hopes for consistency of reason and judgment on the part of the administrative heads of county government, but this responsible attitude has not been demonstrated in the present case.

'Madonna' Photo Wins Praises

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Thank you for printing the beautiful picture of that Madonna-like mother on the front page of the Thursday (July 27) I-J. Her love and devotion to her family, and to all America may yet save us from the evil that is often to be seen pictured in this same paper.

This stomach-turning betrayer of his election mandate for peace has described his own picture as the ugliest thing he has ever seen, and I agree.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

AT BREAKFAST one morning, Mrs. Blahh looked reproachfully at her husband and grumbled, "I bet you forgot that today is our wedding anniversary." "I certainly did not," crowed Mr. Blahh. "And I spent hours dreaming up a gift that was really out of the way and useful. You'll be proud to own it, too. I've bought you a plot in the exclusive Sleeptite Gardens Cemetery!"

Mrs. Blahh, secretly outraged but fearing a scene, allowed as how a cemetery plot was a superb idea. A year later, however, she reminded her husband once more that it was their anniversary again. "Did you get me anything THIS year?" she inquired.

"Certainly not," trumpeted Mr. Blahh. "You haven't even used the present I got you LAST year!"

A CADAVEROUS character invaded a pet shop and asked if there was a high class parrot for sale. "Here's a beauty," enthused the proprietor. "He can say discotheque, Senator Dirksen, Chet Huntley, Kill the Umpire, and Wait Till Next Year." "Never mind all that," interrupted the character. "Is he tender?"

Hoover's FBI Record Provides Answers To His Detractors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI was a pretty crummy outfit when he took it over, full of political pets and incompetents. He quickly built it into an American institution. It's been that way since.

In three years he had cleaned out the misfits and put it on its feet. This has been a great satisfaction to J. Edgar Hoover but peace of mind doesn't always accompany satisfaction.

He has been picked and pecked at almost from the beginning. Some times he las reacted with heat. Much of the criticism has been ludicrous.

HOOVER HAD been a lawyer with the Department of Justice seven years when he was chosen at 29 to head the Bureau of Investigation, which wasn't called the Federal Bureau of Investigation until 1935.

He is 72 now and last week marked the 50th anniversary of the start of his government service. He has headed the FBI 43 years. In the government, retirement is mandatory at 70 but in his case President Johnson waived that requirement.

He set the course the FBI has followed from the day the then attorney general, Harlan Fiske Stone, offered him the job. He said he would accept only on these conditions:

He would run the agency. Politicians couldn't tell him what to do or whom to hire. Appointments would be by merit and so would advancement. He staffed the FBI with young lawyers and accountants as agents whose number has risen from 441 to 6,625.

BEFORE THEY are accepted they must survive an investigation of their conduct, common sense and loyalty. They have to go through a 14-week training course.

The year after he took the job Hoover laid down a rule which still is in effect: an agent must by his conduct eliminate criticism. Even in their clothing the agents are inconspicuous.

Hoover put the FBI ahead of most of the nation's police departments — probably all of them — in 1926 when he warned his agents never to use threats or inducements to get confessions. You never hear of FBI agents using third-degree.

It has been a rather stylish tradition among some liberals to criticize Hoover as a dictator. There is no doubt he runs the FBI with an iron hand. But anyone who objects to that can try to answer this question:

IF YOU WERE running an agency like the FBI, and didn't invoke rigid discipline, how would you keep the politicians' paws off it and keep your agents free of outside discipline and inside corruption?

What has been overlooked or forgotten is that Hoover has never sought to extend his power but, on the other hand, opposed its extension.

He opposed President Franklin D. Roosevelt's idea that the FBI should take over all federal investigations.

In the 1930s, when the country was shaken by spreading gangsterism and killings and demands were being made to federalize the nation's police, he opposed that, too.

HE HAS INSISTED from the beginning that local problems of law and order are the jurisdiction of the local authorities, not the FBI.

In Roosevelt's day there were reports that liberals in his administration were turning sour on Hoover, fearing he had too much authority. At the same time Ku Klux Klan leaders were trying to get him out.

He was criticized for the way he made it. This has been an endless story. It just takes new variations from time to time.

He has even been criticized for almost never holding a news conference, and being very hard for newsmen to see individually, although he is not required to hold such conferences and whether he does or not is strictly his privilege.

HOOVER SUMMED UP his bureau's problems in 1956 when he said of civil rights cases: the FBI is unpopular if it obtains facts which result in prosecutions and it is unpopular if it doesn't.

He told his agents: "Our sole purpose is to do our job objectively." It is hard to think of anything more impressive in government service than the FBI record, ranging from its success with gangsters and Nazi saboteurs to cutting the American Communist party to pieces by infiltrating it.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

U.S. Ignores Racket In Refugee Visas

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — In the Johnson Administration, one set of officials may pursue a policy while others either are indifferent to it or ignorant of acting at cross-purposes.

Secretary of State Rusk is actively supporting Romania's foreign minister, Corneliu Manescu, for the presidency next month of the regular session of the United Nations General Assembly.

This will be the first time the U.S. has ever supported a Communist to head the General Assembly in its 21-year history. No Communist official has ever been president.

U.S. IMMIGRATION officials, however, have gathered detailed information about a far-flung traffic in human lives being conducted under direction of Manescu's foreign ministry and netting hundreds of millions in "hard" currency, chiefly dollars.

This "blood money" is being used to buy plants, machinery, equipment and other capital goods from eager U.S. sellers, who have the State Department's approval and are being encouraged to do business with the Red regime.

Since this traffic began in the early '60s, an estimated 100,000 persons who wanted to leave the Soviet bloc have been "purchased" through the Romanian-run extortion network. Most of these refugees now live in Israel, the U.S. or Western Europe.

THE NATURE and extent of this traffic was uncovered in a series of secret hearings by the House immigration subcommittee headed by Rep. Michael Feighan, D-Ohio.

The subcommittee's unpublished findings, turned over to U.S. immigration authorities, named Henryk Jakober, a Hungarian with Romanian citizenship, as heading a $200 million-a-year refugee business from swank quarters in Bucharest and London.

His "runners" or "agents," including American citizens, contact relatives of persons in Soviet bloc countries to arrange a "purchase price" for exit permits from behind the Iron Curtain.

Once the price (ranging from $3,000 to $50,000) is negotiated, the funds are deposited in banks in London or Switzerland until the deal is approved by the Romanian foreign ministry. The money is then picked up by a diplomatic courier and a visa granted.

THE STATE DEPARTMENT'S indifference to this Romanian "shakedown" is clearly illustrated in a case involving the Iron Curtain relatives of a New York business executive.

In his statement turned over to immigration authorities, the New York businessman reported:

"My brother is trying to obtain the release of his grandmother in the same manner.

"However, before doing so, he approached the State Department to see if they could be of any assistance, especially as the government is negotiating new avenues of trade with the Romanian government. The State Department was totally unwilling to be of help; in fact, it seemd they were much more interested in maintaining good relations with the Communist regime than exposing their racket."

NONE OF THIS was presented to President Johnson when he was briefed for his recent meeting with Romania's Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer.

Who's To Blame For Riots? Rutherford B. Hayes, Of Course

For my sins, I often don a hair shirt and force myself to watch the science fiction of TV. I do not mean, I hasten to add, those horror films in which giant reptiles tear down cities. I mean the equally creepy documentaries in which TV's experts tear down history.

There was one gem, during the Newark uprising, which put the blame for that riot on the Electoral Commission of 1876, which, by a strict party vote, gave the presidency to Rutherford B. Hayes.

Had Samuel J. Tilden won the disputed electoral votes, it was clearly implied, the Negro problem would have been non-existent and everything would be peaches and cream in Newark. And, I must presume, in all our other charred cities, too.

IT JUST GOES to show how badly I was taught history. None of my profs — and I had some noted ones — ever suggested anything of the kind, and this revelation came like a bolt from the blue, for I had been blaming innocents like Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown.

Documentation for this rewrite of history? What are you, an atheist or something? This is a TV documentary, and comes straight from Sinai.

If you were nasty-minded, of course, you might suspect politics had something to do with the verdict. For it is a fact — it may be an FCC ruling, for all I know — that the documentaries of TV's Big Three are compiled only by liberals. And Hayes was a sound-money Republican.

I am reminded that, much in the same manner, Walter Lippmann wrote a column during the 1964 campaign which placed the harshness of the 1919 Versailles treaty on "Goldwater Republicans." Barry was only 10 in 1919, but Lippmann wasn't fooled. He knew who had run the show.

SUCH EXPERTISE non-facts, gleaned by solemn contemplation of their navels by the elite, make me uncertain that LBJ's special commission to investigate our current insurrections will do the job properly. The odds are that some vicious conservative will gum up the works. I'm going to wait for a bona-fide revisionist, someone like TV's famed Martin Agronsky, to tell me what's what.

I like Mr. Agronsky because he sees so clearly that Detroit, Vietnam, and the Mid-East are part of the same problem. On TV I heard him suggest to Secretary Rusk that Russia might help us get peace for Israel if only we would stop bombing Hanoi.

It is a revolutionary proposal with only one minor flaw, as Mr. Rusk reminded him. Once we stopped bombing for 37 days — which Ho used to build up his forces and arms — but that interim apparently wasn't enough to assure Ho we wanted peace. But what have we to lose — except maybe a few thousand American lives — by trying again?

And Mr. A's daring proposal suggests what to do if Detroit should erupt again. Instead of sending cops and firemen and troops — an unmistakable gesture of hostility — LBJ might rush a body of workmen to erect new homes for the rioters. And nothing chintzy, please. There should be plenty of room in the new dwellings to store the television sets, the dresses, the guns and the liquor taken by the looters.

AS ANOTHER TV reporter reminded Detroit's Mayor Cavanaugh, the original looting and shooting in that city began in a playful "spirit of carnival" — a sort of Mardi Gras. It was only when the police interfered that the crowd showed resentment. Nobody likes a killjoy.

On the other hand, another group of Negro leaders asserts that if Mayor Cavanaugh had intervened earlier, the revolt would have been snuffed out a-borning.

It is hard on us non-intellectuals when even the experts disagree. Shortly before the Watts uprising, an "authoritative" study said race conditions in Los Angeles were among the best in the nation. But that, of course, was before any of us knew Rutherford B. Hayes was to blame.

How about impeaching our 19th president posthumously?

Smashups Caused By Heart Failure

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Alcohol still remains the major killer on California highways but an extensive study by the State Transportation Agency has shown that heart failure is a major contributor to highway accidents.

The agency released its report to member of the governor's committee on traffic safety.

Meanwhile, the State Division of Highways announced that the fatality rate on the state highway system dropped to a new all-time low in 1966. There were 2,194 accidental deaths on state highways last year, but they occurred as traffic moved over 50 billion vehicle miles of 14,308 miles of state highway.

MILES TOTAL

The number of miles driven in 1966 was up two billion from 1965 but the number of people killed dropped by four.

As for the transportation agency report, it said that more than 10 per cent of the fatal accidents analyzed during a two-year study turned out to be death by natural causes, rather than death by accident.

The agency did not attempt to downplay the importance of alcohol as a chief contributor to traffic accidents in California. But during 1966, there were 1,474 single-vehicle accidents in which the driver died within 15 minutes. Death was the result of natural causes of 155 of these cases. More than 90 per cent of these involved heart conditions.

The natural-cause victims were predominantly older driver — 80 per cent over 50 years of age — and the majority were men. In contrast to the other accidental deaths, most of the natural cause incidents occurred during daylight hours.

"It becomes increasingly evident that persons who die of natural causes while behind the wheel of a vehicle constitute a major highway hazard," Gordon C. Luce, transportation agency administrator, said. "We must find new and better ways of predicting heart problems."

The agency's study covered an analysis of 772 driver deaths in which driver intoxication was involved. Of this total, 662 involved men and 71 per cent were found to have been drunk at the time of the collision. Of the 110 women victims studied, 39 per cent were intoxicated.

BLOOD ALCOHOL

The study classified as "drunk" those individuals who had a blood alcohol content of .10 per cent or higher and subclassified those whose blood alcohol content was .20 per cent and higher as "ability excessively impaired." Drivers whose blood alcohol level ranged from .01 to .09 per cent were placed in the "social drinking" classification.

More than half of those found to be drunk also were classified as "excessively impaired." The largest single grouping was at the .20-.24 per cent level.

The period between midnight and 3 a.m. accounted for 26 per cent of the study cases and, of these driver, 83 per cent were "drunk." The data indicate the alcohol problem is most pronounced in the 30-to-50 age group. However, 41 per cent of the fatals in the 15-to-19 age group were found to be "drunk."

DRUG TAKERS

In the cases studied, 14 per cent of the men and 16 per cent of the women showed evidence of having taken drugs. The drug tests were limited to barbituates, tranquilizers, stimulants and anti-infectives. Evidence of drugs was progressively greater in the older aged groups.

The division of highways report showed the statewide death rate on all roadways was 4,830 persons killed and 101 billion miles driven on 165,000 miles of thoroughfare, for a rate of 4.79 deaths for 100 million miles of vehicle travel. This was the first time the state rate was below 5. The rate on highways was 2,194 deaths from 50 billion vehicle miles on 14,308 miles of state highway for a rate of 4.47.

Restitution Ordered In Bad Check Case

Mrs. Toni Patricia Webb of San Francisco was placed on three years probation Monday in Marin Superior Court and ordered to make restitution for passing a worthless $112.11 check Feb. 5.

Mrs. Webb, 24, pleaded guilty June 26 to passing the check with intent to defraud Little Daisy of Marin at Strawberry Town and Country Village.

Open Session Bill Passed

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate has passed 33-0 a long-delayed Assembly bill requiring meetings of state agencies to be open to the public.

The bill by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, would carry out the intent of the state Brown Act, which regulates meetings of local govate amendments.

The measure, approved yesterday, now returns to the Assembly for consideration of Senate amendments.

Guilty Plea To Knife Carrying

Lee Daniel Temple, 20, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court Monday to a misdemeanor charge of carrying an illegal switchblade knife.

Judge Peter Allen Smith scheduled judgment for 10 a.m. Aug. 25. Temple, of 22 G Street, San Rafael, had the knife when San Rafael police halted the car in which he was riding Saturday on a traffic violation.

STP May Have Been Stolen From Dow Firm

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) believes the formula for the newest hippie mind-expanding drug, STP, may have been stolen from a pharmaceutical company.

A spokesman for the agency said yesterday the drug, said to be four times stronger than LSD, is the same as an experimental substance called DOM manufactured by Dow Chemical Co. The company does not know how its formula got into the hands of unauthorized persons.

The FDA warned that use of STP, a hippie acronym for "Serenity - Tranquility - Peace," may be "extremely hazardous". It is chemically similar to mescaline, the Mexican hallucinatory drug, and amphetamine, known to teen-age hipsters as "goof-balls," the agency said in a statement.

Sausalito Arts Fair Plans Backed

Sausalito City Council Tuesday night endorsed plans by Sausalito Arts Association for its annual arts festival over Labor Day "weekend."

The three-day festival, Sept. 2-4, will be held again in the Bank of America parking lot and on Humboldt Street behind the lot. Hours will be 10 a.m. to dusk.

The California Highway Patrol will close the Sausalito lateral entrance to the city during the festival, said City Mgr. George M. Patterson, and signs will direct visitors to the Waldo Point turn-off and to parking at Richardson Bay School. Shuttle buses will take visitors downtown.

City residents can use Spencer Avenue to get into the city during the hours when the lateral is clased, he said. The lateral will be open only to buses and residents of Army forts Baker, Barry and Cronkhite.

The arts association also asked use of 100 spaces in the parking lot opposite the Village Fair, but the council agreed with Patterson that the need for parking was more important.

The bank lot will be closed from Friday morning to noon Tuesday of that weekend.

Juvenile Court Will Get Case

Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court has referred the case of David Allen Somers, 18, to juvenile court following a preliminary hearing on a charge of marijuana possession.

He scheduled a report on the referral for Aug. 15. He also dismissed the charge against co-defendant James P. Lieuallen, 18, because of insufficient evidence.

Somers, of Pacifica, and Lieuallen, of Daly City, were arrested by California Highway Patrol on Highway 101 May 27.

Youth Hurt In Auto Collision

A 6-year-old Novato boy suffered minor injuries at 7:50 p.m. Tuesday when two cars collided on Highway 101, at the intersection of San Marino Drive, North of Novato.

A witness told California Highway Patrol that a northbound car driven by Edward Garrett O'Keefe, 42, of Santa Rosa, honked at another car on the highway, which moved over.

Then O'Keefe's car collided with one driven by Carol Ann Bensen, 25, of 95 Iolanthus Avenue, Novato, turning left into San Marino Drive, according to the witness.

Mrs. Bensen's son, Daren David, was treated at Novato General Hospital for head burises.

Reed Budget Approved; Tax Rate Same

Trustees of Reed School District Tuesday night adopted a budget of $1,745,677.

The district's publication budget was $1,697,378. The increase resulted from adding to reserve funds $48,299 accumulated from unspent funds last year, according to Asst. Supt. William G. Vanasen.

The board said the increase would not affect the tax rate, which last year was $3.30 per $100 assessed valuation.

Salary adjustments were put over for discussion until the fate of Assembly finance bill AB 272 is known, as it would provide more money for school districts, according to Supt. H. Joseph Edgington.

The board approved an increase in health insurance contributions by the district, from $8 to $10 each month, for all employees.

In other actions, the board hired Shirley Ann Roberts to teach at Granada School at $6,125; Linda Rosenheim at $8,725 as a district-wide Spanish and social science teacher, and Bernadette Sherwood, teacher at Reed School, at $9,000.

Lagunitas School Tax Holds Line

Lagunitas School Board has adopted a budget of $342,650 for 1967-68 but provided for a reduction later if state aid increases this year, according to Supt. Marshall J. McCuniff.

The budget adopted Tuesday at the public hearing was $900 more than preliminary figures adding a salary for a part-time secretary.

The tax rate of $3.29 will be the same as last year, but increased money from the state would cut the rate about 7 cents, McCuniff said.

Next regular board meeting will be 7:30 p.m. Aug 15 at Lagunitas School.

Two Drunken Driving Fines

Two persons were sentenced in Marin Municipal Court Monday for drunken driving.

Charles Benson Johnson, 33, of Petaluma, was given five days in county jail, fined $276, and placed on 18 months probation. San Rafael police arrested him on private property April 18.

Idelle Vernon, 41, of 508 D Street, San Rafael, was fined $202 and placed on a year's probation. San Rafael police arrested her April 9 on B Street.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Cramps, Exhaustion, Strokes May Result From Overheating

VAN DELLEN

Heat can induce muscle cramps, exhaustion, and stroke. Muscular spasm is the best known effect and stems from loss of salt via sweat. Heat exhaustion develops for the same reason. The person is drenched in perspiration, pale, lightheaded, and nauseated. Body temperature is normal. Most victims respond to rest, fluids, and salt replacement.

Heat stroke is serious, and death may occur unless the condition is treated promptly. The victim is overwhelmed by heat when the body's cooling mechanism fails. The sweat glands are fatigued and the skin is hot and dry.

BODY TEMPERATURE varies from 99 to 111 degrees Fahrenheit. The individual is faint and dizzy; the head aches and muscles cramp. He staggers about confused and drowsy. Thirst is excessive and he complains of being hot and nauseated.

Those not acclimated to hot weather are prone to heat stroke. The adjustment process takes from two weeks to two months. The rate of sweat evaporation depends upon the moisture in the air, breezes, and clothing worn.

On a humid day, the amount of moisture removed from the surface of the body is limited. This is the reason why the intense heat of dry desert air is not so uncomfortable as that of a humid jungle. Alcoholic beverages and exertion hasten the onset of heat stroke. Oldsters are more susceptible.

FIRST AID in heat stroke is to place the victim in a tub of ice water. Massage the extremities vigorously. An alternate is to wrap the individual in a wet sheet and direct a fan over the body. Sponge with water at room temperature.

Fanning also lowers the body temperature. In some, oxygen and stimulants may be needed. Cortisone is helpful.

Avoid heavy work in torrid days when the sun is bright. Exercises should be graduated until the body becomes acclimated to the heat.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

EGGS

Mrs. J. Y. writes: I have a temporary invalid at home who prefers fried to scrambled or boiled eggs. Is it all right to give him fried eggs?

REPLY

Yes. The stomach usually handles fried eggs just as well as scrambled or boiled. The latter are easiest to digest but there is no need for concern if his stomach is normal.

MENOPAUSE

Mrs. B. T. writes: Is it safe for a woman in the change of life to donate blood?

REPLY

Yes, if there are no other contraindications. The menopause does not alter the condition of the blood.

SEVEN MONTH BABIES

Mrs. V. K. writes: Do 7 month babies ever survive? If so, what is the state of their development?

REPLY

Many of these tykes survive and, except for their size and weight, are fully developed.

FETAL BLOOD SUPPLY

Mrs. J. W. Y. writes: Does the fetus get its blood from the father or mother?

REPLY

From the mother, through the umbilical cord. I assume you are referring to blood in its literal sense.

CANCER

S.G. writes: How does cancer of the spine affect a person?

REPLY

Symptoms vary from the backache to paralysis of the legs.

CHEEK CHEWER

P. C. writes: Why is it that when I chew gum I bite the inside of my cheeks?

REPLY

You may be able to avoid this trauma if you chew without sucking in the cheeks. I assume that your teeth are in proper alignment.

SNUFF HABIT

G. B. E. writes: A woman friend of mine uses snuff and she would like to "kick the habit." Is there a remedy for this habit?

REPLY

The remedy is will power.

SMOKING AND NERVES

K. L. writes: Does smoking make you nervous?

REPLY

Not me; I don't smoke.

DRIED PALMS

Mrs. G. R. writes: How can I keep my palms from drying and cracking?

REPLY

Diagnosis is needed before anything can be done. Dryness of the palms may be due to a variety of conditions ranging from chapping to contact dermatitis. Temporary relief may be obtained by applying oily creams or lotions. A silicone cream may help in prevention.

Today's Health Hint — Smoking can cause heartburn.

Old Good Old Days The Best

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—The Wisconsin Historical Society said yesterday evidence indicates they just didn't build things in 1872 the way they did in 1843.

The society said the foundation under its Villa Louis Museum, built in 1843, was sound but that the foundation under a kitchen wing, added in 1872, had to be replaced.

Bridge Session

The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board will meet Aug. 11 at 10:30 a.m. in the chambers of the Del Norte County Board of Supervisors in Crescent City to discuss new business and possibly plans for construction of the second deck, Helen Jack, district secretary, reported.

Cycle Injuries

Gray Ruttledge, 17, of 9 Parkwood Avenue, Mill Valley, was treated for face bruises and cuts on his right leg at Marin General Hospital Tuesday after the motorcycle he was riding ran into the car of Leo Ciolino at about 1500 Fourth Street, San Rafael, police reported today. TELEVISION REVIEW

ABC-TV Comes To The Aid Of Boxing

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI) — Television once was accused of killing boxing. Yet the World Heavyweight Championship elimination tournament that opens in Houston this Saturday might never have happened without the interest of the ABC-TV network.

"I've always thought that blaming television for the death of boxing was unfair cirticism," said Roone Arledge, vice president of ABC Sports. "I hope those who made it are noticing that by acquiring the television rights to the tournament we are pumping fresh blood into the sport we are charged with destroying."

THE LINEUP

In Saturday nights' fight at the Houston Astrodome Ernie Terrell of Houston, ranked fourth, will meet Thad Spencer of Portland, Ore., ranked fifth. And ninth-ranked Leotis Martin will box eighth-ranked Jimmy Ellis, onetine sparring partner of deposed champion Cassius Clay.

Arledge said he personally considers Clay a better fighter than any of those in the tournament and that he was disturbed at first at the idea of choosing his successor this way. But since Clay's conviction on draft evasion charges, he no longer has any reservations about the tournament.

"Champions come and go in any sport," Arledge said, "and when one passes another steps into his place. This tournament is thus legitimate and valid and the only time for the foreseeable future that all the ills of boxing are precluded. If one of the boxers wins he cannot refuse to fight his next opponent.

GOOD THING

"This seems to me a very healthy thing. We are contributing a breath of fresh air to a sport which has been in ill repute. I know it's unfortunate that Joe Frazier isn't in the tournament, but I don't think he would have won it anyway."

Arledge, who presides over "The Wide World of Sports," "The American Sportsman" and other shows in ABC's fine sports lineup, said he wanted to make it clear ABC is not sponsoring the tournament. But by buying the television rights it is providing the same sort of financial support he believes has helped our amateur teams at home and improved their showings in international competition abroad.

"I can't understand why a lot of sports writers are putting the tournament down," he said. "If it works the way it could work it could do a lot of good for the sport.

Arledge, blond, husky and tireless, had been taking shots for a safari in Tanzania which will be filmed for "The American Sportsman" series. He shot the world's record Cape Buffalo two years ago and one of the 20 or so biggest leopards ever. On this trip he will join up with Bing Crosby and Phil Harris who will hunt birds; David Janssen who reported that he shot his first lion the other day, Clint Walker and Gov. John Connally of Texas who hopes to bag leopards.

ROUGH JOB

Three of our technicians in Tanzania have been hurt already," Arledge said in his office in the new ABC building. "But you've got to expect that. We have to get our cameras to precarious and often dangerous places to get the shots we need for our sports and sporting programs."

On his return from the safari late this month Arledge will complete plans for covering the Winter Olympics at Grenoble in France and the Summer Olympics in Mexico City, both ABC exclusives.

Second Garbage Vote Set After Pay Rise Offered

BRISBANE (UPI) — The City Council has decided to call a special election to give residents a chance to decide whether to allow San Francisco to dump its garbage here.

The five-man council also decided last night to permit garbage dumping to continue at Sierra Point pending the outcome of the election or of the case currently before the state District Court of Appeal.

Brisbane voters in 1965 banned garbage dumping. The election was upheld in San Mateo County Superior Court this year but has been appealed.

The council's decision came after San Francisco's two scavenger companies offered to up the ante from $20,000 to $100,000 a year for the privilege of dumping about 1,400 tons of garbage daily in the reclaimed land east of Bayshore Freeway.

Applications

Applications are now being accepted by the U.S. Civil Service Commission for entry in the Air Reserve Technician Program for management in records and publications at Hamilton Air Force Base. Information and applications are available at the San Rafael Post Office.

U.C. Regent Policy On Drug Users

(Special to the I-J)

BERKELEY — The University of California regents have reaffirmed that students shall be subject to disciplinary action, including dismissal, for use, distribution or possession of unlawful, dangerous drugs and narcotics.

They also asked U.C. officials to continue educating students on the danger of illegal drug use.

Following is the text of the regents resolution, which was passed unanimously:

"The Regents of the University of California are deeply concerned by reports of rapidly increasing use of dangerous and unlawful drugs by college and university students. The often tragic consequences of the use of such drugs are chronicled in the now familiar accounts of bizarre behavior, degradation, impairment of mental faculties, injury and death. The loss of mind or life of a gifted young person is perhaps the most poignant and bitter of such tragedies.

"This menance to students of the University, a most select group of our young citizens, greatly concerns The Regents.

"The Regents therefore reaffirm its policy that students shall be subject to disciplinary action, including dismissal from the university, for the use, distribution or possession of unlawful, dangerous drugs and narcotics, such as lysergic acid diethylamide (LSD), marijuana, and others.

Gas Trucks' Use Of Span Debated

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Opposing arguments were heard yesterday on a proposal to ban gasoline trucks from the new $70 million San Mateo-Hayward Bridge, due to open in October.

E. R. Foley, chief engineer of the Division of Bay Toll Crossings, testified that "serious damage or collapse" could result from a fire on the thinly asphalted surface of the bridge.

Design engineer V. J. Richey said that warping of steel plates in a fire could result in the loss of one or more bridge spans. The cost of replacement was estimated at from $750,000 to $6 million. The repair work would take six months to a year.

An engineer for the Union Oil Co., Ray Labory, called the proposal "discriminatory." He said gas trucks have an excellent safety record over the years and have never been involved in a serious accident on a state toll bridge.

Gas trucks are permitted on all state toll bridges except the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. Gas trucks can cross Golden Gate Bridge only during light traffic hours and when escorted by a fire truck.

James A. Moe, deputy director of the Department of Public Works, said a decision on the proposed ban would be made by Director John Erreca after Moe reviews the evidence and makes a recommendation.

Tippling Champ

CHELMSFORD, England (UPI)—Mrs. Marjorie Wellington, 43, a mother of four who recently won a beer drinking championship for downing 14 pints at a sitting and averaging 210 pints a week, was sentenced to a year in prison yesterday for theft. The judge said she stole to get money "to live up" to her title.

Council Asks Ark, House Clean-Up

The Larkspur City Council last night moved to rid the city of two unsightly nuisances — the 17 demolished arks on Boardwalk 3 and the debris from the storm-wrecked home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stone at 292 Via La Paz.

The city knocked down the arks, lying in the path of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project, June 1 saying they constituted a health hazard.

Last night councilmen requested City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst to put pressure on the Army Corps of Engineers, to remove the arks, remains in accordance with the corps' contract for Corte Madera flood control work.

He was instructed, also, to write to Stone, advise him of the "unsafe situation" at the site of Stone's former home and ask him to take action to abate the nuisance.

The house, damaged as a result of a slide in last January's storms, was demolished Feb. 1 but, according to a neighbor, Frank Cowdrey, of 286 Via La Paz, "considerable debris was left behind."

U. S. Track Team Off And Running

WINNIPEG (AP) — As a bystander heard the Star Spangled Banner played once more at the University of Manitoba's track and field stadium, he said to Stan Wright: "Aren't you getting tired of this?"

"No, sir," replied the assistant U.S. track coach from Texas Southern University. "I can hear that played all day. You haven't seen or heard anything yet."

Whereupon the Yankee track and fieldsters won five more of the six finals yesterday to run up their total of gold medals to 20 in 22 events.

Then the U.S. forces swept two golds and two silvers in the yachting windup, delayed five hours by gusty winds and two thunderstorms, and another gold for the women's team foil fencing.

Since the young swimming and diving marvels of the United States captured 28 of the 33 golds in the record-breaking meet that ended Tuesday night, you really couldn't blame some of the non-Yanks from getting bored with it all.

On the medal scoreboard the United States has a huge bag of 96 golds, 53 silvers and 34 bronzes. Brazil is a far-trailing second in golds with nine (9-6-3) while host Canada is third in gold with eight and second in total medals with 70 (8-28-34).

'OUR BEST'

"The other countries want to see our best in action," commented Arthur Lentz, executive director of the U.S. Olympic Committee. "This has been going on since 1955 in Mexico City. The athletes from the other nations are improving but so are we," said Lentz. "Our kids get a big kick out of winning in international competition. Then, when someone like Ralph Hutton of Canada wins a gold medal over one of our swimmers, he's real proud of beating our best. And that's the way it should be."

The track and fielders take another day off so the U.S. Anthem won't be heard all over Winnipeg for a change.

The big moment of the program will come in the evening when Harvard's undefeated eight-oared crew takes on Canada's unbeaten British Columbia eight and Argentina in one of the heats of the rowing program on Winnipeg's Red River Floodway.

SECOND CHANCE

Paraguay, Mexico and Cuba will compete in the other heat. The winners of each heat will qualify for Saturday's five-boat final. But the losers will meet in a repechage—second chance for losers—tomorrow with the first three also gaining the finals.

So the United States and Canada undoubtedly will row again for the gold medals on Saturday when all seven finals will be held.

Despite this, both Harvard and B.C. have indicated they will go all out in the heat for psychological reasons and to protect their perfect records.

Pan-American records were broken in five of the six finals yesterday but one of them — Wyomia Tyus' :23.7 time in the women's 200-meter dash — was not allowed because of an aiding wind. Miss Tyus, of Griffin, Ga., nipped 100-meter winner Barbara Ferrell of Los Angeles.

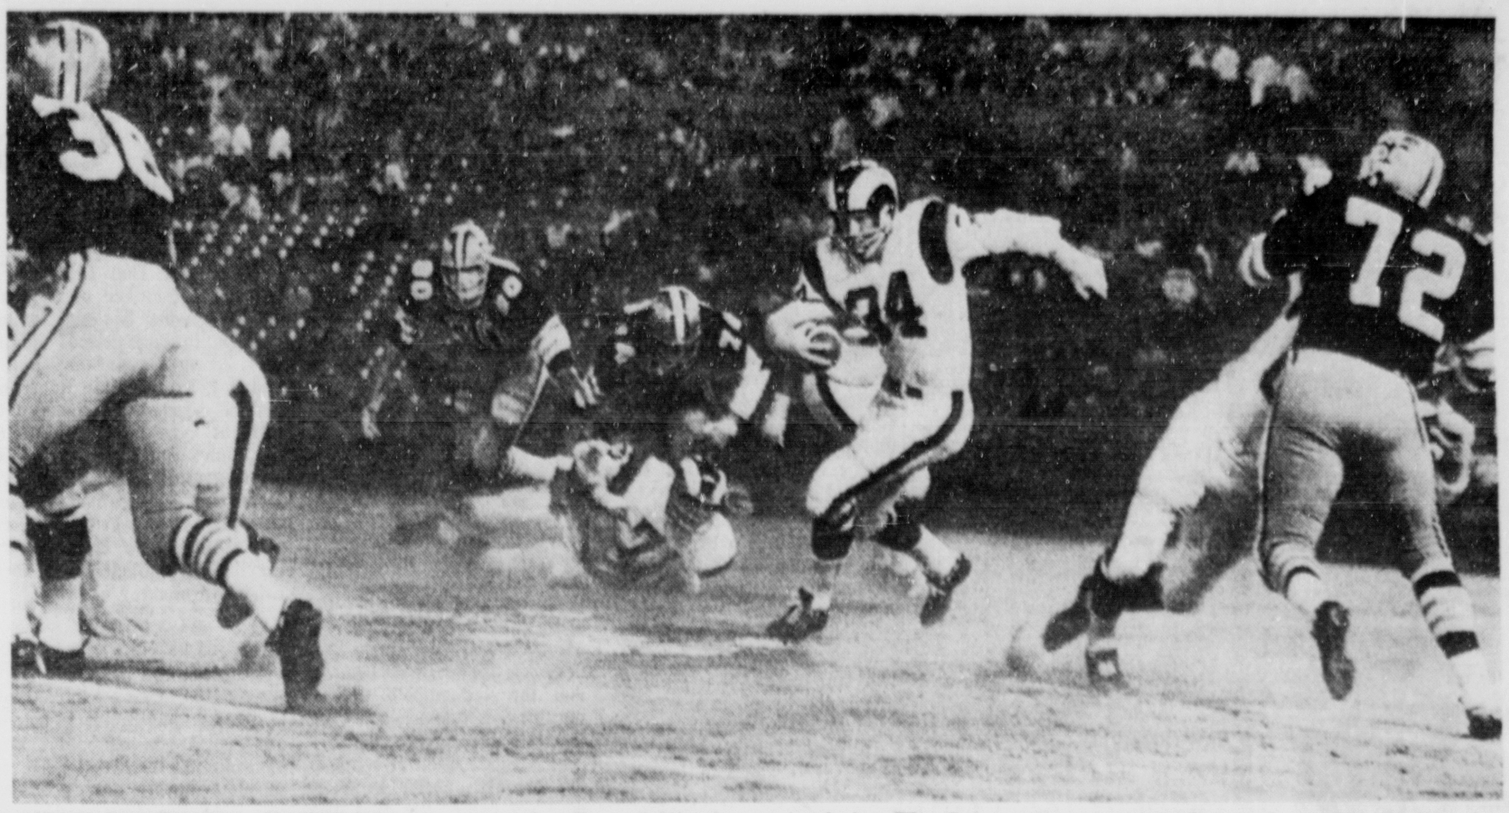
DOUBLE WINNER

Van Nelson of Minneapolis became the first double gold medal winner by taking the 5,000-meter run in 13:47.4. He had won the 10,000 perviously.

Bill Toomey of Laguna Beach, Calif., captured the decathlon with 8,044 points; John Carlos, a New York native who runs for East Texas State, edged Jerry Bright of Oakland in the 200-meter sprint in :20.5; and fast-rising Wade Bell of Ogden, Utah, came up with a final burst to whip Bill Crothers, Canada's Olympic silver medalist, in the 800-meter non-record time of 1:49.2. Crothers was clocked in 1:49.9.

Cuba's Irene Martinez Tartabull broke the U.S.A. monopoly by winning the long jump with 20 feet, 9 inches, breaking the Pan-Am mark of 20-2 set by Willye White of Chicago in 1963. Willye also bettered her mark but had to settle for third with 20-3.

In yachting, Bruce Goldsmith, Northfield, Ill., won the Lightning class and Harry Melges, Zenda, Wis., took the Flying Dutchman gold medal. Carl Van Duyne, Short Hills, N.J., was second in the Finn class and Alan Levinson, Indianapolis, was second in the Snipes.



HOLY FOOTBALL, BATMAN! — Los Angeles Ram fullback Lester Josephson found the New Orleans Saints' line a bit hole-y on this off-tackle play that netted seven yards last night at Anaheim. The Saints were surprisingly tough in their National Football League debut as the Rams won 16-7. New Orleans players included linebacker Phil Vandersea (extreme left) and tackle Earl Leggett (right). Do-Or-Die Road Trip For Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants, all of a sudden winners in five of the last six games, headed today on a two weeks road trip which could make or break their hopes of a driving finish for the pennant.

Despite a ninth inning lapse, Gaylord Perry went the distance yesterday to turn back the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-2, and mark the seventh time he has bested the Bucs in his last eighth decisions with them.

Willie Mays, still convalescing from the flu, featured a 12-hit San Francisco attack by socking a two-run homer and doubling across another tally.

The Giants were idle today then open tomorrow night in New York where lefty Ray Sadecki 3-3 is slated to start against the Mets' Tom Seaver 10-7.

Following the three-game weekend series in New York the Giants go to Philadelphia for three night games followed by four games at first place St. Louis, then three in Atlanta before returning home Aug. 18. The road trip calls for games on 13 consecutive days.

BYE-BYE, SHUTOUT

Perry was working on a five-hit shutout until the ninth when, after two were down, Roberto Clemente homered. Gaylord then allowed three more singles and another run before retiring Gene Alley.

However, the slim right-hander had plenty of runs behind him and was backed by five double plays as he racked up his eighth win against 12 defeats.

After Mays' two-run blast in the first, his 15th homer of the season, the Giants clubbed starter Dennis Ribant for four more runs and four straight hits in the third frame. Pete Mikkelsen finally got the side out after giving up three hits and a run himself.

RAMS WIN, BUT . . .

Saints Show Promise

ANAHEIM (AP) — The New Orleans Saints failed to march into the National Football League in winning fashion yet showed an ability to cause plenty of trouble.

"They're going to surprise a lot of people," declared Los Angeles coach George Allen whose Rams beat the Saints 16-7 in the pre-season opener last night at Anaheim Stadium.

"New Orleans is the best expansion team I've seen at this stage of its development."

Three field goals by Bruce Gossett proved the difference and Allen admitted he kept the Rams' No. 1 defensive unit in the game longer than he had expected, "because I had to."

New Orleans joined the NFL this season as its 16th team and coach Tom Fears, an ex-Ram star, declared himself happy with the overall play in the inaugural battle.

"Especially the defense," he declared, "They were really hitting. I think the Rams knew they were in a game."

On offense, the Saints' star was Bill Kilmer, the former UCLA star who became virtually the forgotten man of the San Francisco 49ers after an automobile accident nearly ended his career.

Taking over near the end of the second period, Kilmer engineered the Saints past midfield for the first time and in the third quarter hit 10 passes on an 80-yard scoring drive.

He capped the march with a throw to rookie Les Kelly of Alabama on a nine-yard touchdown play. On the night, he connected on 15 of 25 passes for 117 yards and had one intercepted.

Reserve Clause, 'Necessary Evil'

All major league baseball contracts contain a clause that gives ball clubs a perpetual option to a player's services or the right to trade him. It has come to be known as baseball's reserve clause.

Marvin Miller, the new director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, has requested major league owners to review the reserve clause at their current summer meeting in Chicago along with other proposals made by the players.

Judge Robert Cannon, Miller's predecessor as chief spokesman for major league players, never challenged baseball's reserve clause that indefinitely tied a player to one club. Judge Cannon, a Milwaukee trial jurist, might have had some doubts about the reserve clause in a court test but he never doubted its practical necessity.

"You might say the reserve clause is one of those necessary evils," Judge Cannon declared at the time baseball switched from open market bonus bidding for a rookie's services to its present draft system.

All The Stars On One Team

"If it were not of the reserve clause," said Judge Cannon, "the top stars of the game ultimately would wind up on one team — the team with most money. The stars of the game — all on one team — would make a competitive farce of the game. It would be ruined."

When baseball's first draft was held two years ago it was called a free agent draft. It differed from professional football's draft in that a drafted baseball free agent didn't have to sign with the club selecting him. He could wait for the next draft.

Rick Monday was the No. 1 selection in baseball's new experiment. The Kansas City Athletics, last place finishers in the American League in 1965, had the first draft selection and picked Monday. The young Arizona State outfielder signed a $104,000 contract with the As.

Monday might have been able to do a bit better than $104,000 in an open market but he was quite content with it. He ignored strong comments by some of the nation's sports columnists that the new free agent draft, coupled with baseball's reserve clause, deprived free agents of bargaining rights.

Robs Free Agents Of Freedom

"It deprives free agents of their freedom," roared one guardian of the Bill of Rights.

"Illegal, unconstitutional, slavery, kidnaping," shouted another.

In his request for a review of the reserve clause by major league owners, Miller avoided such emotionalism and even emphasized that "no threats are being leveled."

Miller gave the impression that he, too, looked upon the reserve clause as a "necessary evil" but one that he wouldn't hesitate to exploit in achieving other objectives, such as a $12,000 minimum yearly salary for major league players and an increase from $12 to $15 a day in meal money while they were on the road.

Still Time To Enter Net Tourney

Deadline for entering the Independent-Journal-San Rafael Recreation Department Junior Tennis Tournament has been set back to noon Monday to allow all who wish to play to register.

The tourney starts Tuesday at Albert Park.

Entry may be made at the Department office, 1400 Fifth Avenue; at Marin tennis clubs; at local sporting goods stores; at other municipal recreation departments and by telephone at the San Rafael department office.

Entries came in slower this year than in the past for the tourney, but picked up yesterday and the competition should be exciting as always.

There are five age groups for boys and five girls in singles and three for each in doubles. No player can enter more than two events.

Lester, Hernandez Battle Tonight

OAKLAND (AP) — Explosive Jimmy Lester of San Francisco faces another top-ranked middleweight fighter, Ferd Hernandez, in the Oakland Arena tonight, 8:30 o'clock.

Lester, a dynamic, entertaining slugger who continually tries for a knockout, faces an experienced boxer who has upset Sugar Ray Robinson and Andy Heilman; kayoed Carl Moore and ended Jose Gonsales' string of 21 straight wins in Paris.

Moore had conquered Lester. Odds of 10-7 favor Hernandez, of Las Vegas, Nev. His record is 27 wins, including 10 kayos; 7 losses and 4 draws. He's rated No. 4 by Ring magazine and No. 5 by the World Boxing Association.

Yanks Trade Ellie Howard To Pennant-Minded Bosox

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox obtained veteran catcher Elston Howard from the New York Yankees today for an undisclosed amount of cash and two players to be named later.

The 38-year-old Howard has been with the Yankees since 1955. He has seen limited action this year and is batting .197 with three homers and 17 runs batted in.

Howard was named the American League Most Valuable Player in 1963 after collecting 28 homers and 85 RBI and producing a .287 batting average.

A native of St. Louis and a resident of Teaneck, N.J., Howard's best big league season was in 1961 when he batted .348 in 129 games and hammered 21 homers. He hit better than .300 in two other seasons.

However, after batting .313 in 1964, Howard underwent right elbow surgery for the removal of bone chips the following year and missed six weeks of the campaign. He wound up with a .233 average.

The Red Sox, in second place in the American League, have been using Mike Ryam and John Gibson behind the plate.

Before the start of this season, Howard, pitcher Whitey Ford and first baseman Mickey Mantle were the only Yankees left from Manager Casey Stengel's fabulously successful era which ended in 1960. Ford retired last month. Howard's annual salary is estimated around $50,000.

North Marin Pony Stars Eliminated

North Marin Pony League All-Stars played themselves right out of the post-season sectional tournament at Citrus Heights near Sacramento last night, losing their second straight in the double elimination playoff 7-2 to Ukiah.

North Marin outhit Ukiah 6-5 but contributed five errors and several bases on balls to the Ukiah attack. The winners scored their first run on an error in the first inning and put the game away with five more on just two hits in the second. One of the two hits was a three-run double.

MARIN SCORES

North Marin was blanked until the sixth inning, when Jim Lazzarini led off with a single and Tom Kendall doubled. Two infield grounders got them home.

Lazzarini had another single and singles by Bill Berry and Pat Charters and a double by Mark Hebel accounted for the rest of the North Marin attack.

Novato Team Wins In Little League

Mark Giovennoni scored the first run and singled in the winning run as the Novato American League beat Marinwood 4-3 in seven innings (one extra) last night in a Hamilton-Loma Verde Major Little League Invitational Tournament game.

Novato trailed 3-1 but tied the game with two runs in its final at bats, then won it an inning later when Kim Nieber doubled, advanced to third on a passed ball and scored on Giovennoni's infield hit.

Novato Team Plays At Vallejo Tonight

The Novato National League All-Stars tonight begin what they hope will be a transcontinental campaign to the Little League World Series when they play Wilson Park of Vallejo at 6 o'clock.

The game at Wilson Park's home diamond is the second semifinal contest of the sectional tournament in the North Bay Region. Last night West Sacramento scored a run in the bottom of the sixth and last inning to eliminate Petaluma 1-0.

Russ Nelson will probably be the starting pitcher for the Novato boys, who got into this tournament by beating Sausalito 1-0 Saturday in the finals of the Marin County tourney.

That game featured three defensive gems by Novato centerfielder Danny Metzger and the one-hit pitching of Hoza Wright. Wright will probably pitch tomorrow night in the sectional finals if Novato wins tonight. Little League rules prohibit use of a pitcher in two successive tournament games.

The winner at Vallejo will play in the four-team Northern California Divisional Tournament at Sunnyvale next week. The regional in Inglewood the following week, also involving four teams, will precede the Little League World Series, an eight team affair to be played in Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 21-26.

The game tonight will be broadcase on KTIM (1550).

Leaders Win In DiMaggio Ball League

Indian Valley stayed one jump ahead of the Marin Cleansers in the Marin Joe DiMaggio Baseball League last night by squeezing past San Anselmo 13-11.

The win gave Indian Valley an 8-3 won-lost record with three games to go. Marin Cleaners stayed right behind at 7-4 by thumping San Rafael 11-4 as Stacey Schaeffer rapped three hits and scored four runs.

Mill Valley failed to keep step, however, losing to Presidio 3-0. The Presidio team, which ran off four straight wins to start the season and then played miserably for several games, made its best showing of the year in tying the Tamalpais boys in the standings at 6-5.

Indian Valley must play Mill Valley, the Cleaners and San Rafael (2-9) and can take the pennant by winning two of the three games. One of the Indian Valley losses was to San Rafael.

Court Says Clay Can't Go Abroad

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal court held Cassius Clay's passport today, limiting the former heavyweight champion's travel to within the United States.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham ordered Clay's passport surrendered yesterday after denying the fighter's request to leave this country to participate in a boxing match in Japan.

Ingraham issued the order pending the outcome of Clay's appeal of a June 20 conviction for refusal to be inducted into the Army.

Pity The Poor Deer Hunter: Private Property Keep Out!

STEVENS

Saturday, a half hour before sunrise, an army of nimrods will sally forthy all over California with grim determination to bag a buck. To the unattached hunter the big question may be, "Where can I go to have at least a chance to tag a deer?"

When you consider that there are thousands of acres of good deer habitat, seems unfair that the aforementioned unattached hunter is banned from a very large part of the state.

The latest release from the State Department of Fish and Game sets forth the county-by-county predictions and the more I read the more I am convinced that there is something wrong. For Instance:

"Humboldt County — Only the southwest corner of this county is in the early season . . . Most of the land is privately owned with permission to hunt necessary."

Next comes Mendocino County — about 85 per cent of the county is privately owned and access is controlled by the property owner. . . . Marin County "There is no public land."

And so it goes with similar restrictions throughout the state.

PITY THE poor unattached hunter! If all or most of the property owners could be persuaded to open their lands to public hunting, there would be plenty of animals slain. And there is something else that can be done.

It is suggested by a folder issued by the Izaak Walton League in cooperation with the National Sporting Goods Association and the Winchester-Western Division of Olin.

The folder presents a campaign called Hunt America Time, and it is the most comprehensive affair I have ever seen. The kit which was sent to me contains wonderful, appealing reasons why there should be a sort of partnership between the unattached hunter and the land owner.

AN EASY-TO-READ booklet outlining the Hunt America Time program is in the kit, as are a lapel button to be worn by the hunter; a round cloth tag reading: "I have pledged to respect private property;" a decal to be pasted on a windshield and a large poster stating in black letters: "HUNTERS — RESPECT PRIVATE PROPERTY, SAVE PUBLIC HUNTING."

THE KIT ALSO contains a booklet explaining just how to approach the land owner; how to really go to work to open more — much more — private land to public hunting. There is a quarter-card to be tacked on the buildings of the land owner reading: "SAFETY ZONE NO HUNTING NEAR BUILDINGS. Respect private property, save public hunting." Another quarter-card reads "Hunting by Permission Only." Add to the foregoing a bumper strip for your car, which reads "HUNT LIKE A GENTLEMAN."

OKAY, PERHAPS I have taken too much space to acquaint you with the kit, but if the secretaries of all sports clubs would send for it, display the various posters, pledges and other material at their next meeting and ask for volunteers to go into the field and get converts to the Hunt America Time, it shoud get results. Send your request for a sample kit to the Izaac Walton League of America, National Headquarters, 1326 Waukegan Road, Glenview, Illinois 60025.

South Solid Shrine Game Pick Tonight

The South will be heavily favored to beat the North when the annual California high school Shrine football game gets underway at the Los Angeles Coliseum tonight at 8:30.

The game will be broadcast on KCBS in San Francisco starting at 8:15.

Among the North players is defensive end Jerry Sprout from Sir Francis Drake High School. He will be a starter and may also see action at offensive tight end.

A crowd of almost 50,000 is expected to be lured by the prospect of seeing widely-heralded Mickey Cureton, South halfback from Centennial High in Compton, and the other top prep stars from last season compete in their last game before they enter college.

RULES CHANGED

Several rules changes have been made in the game. The quarters have been lengthened from 12 to 15 minutes; the goal posts have been moved to the goal line to facilitate place kicking and the two-point conversion option is now available.

The most drastic change, though, involves kickoffs after touchdowns. If a team scores and still trails by more than eight points, it can elect to receive the kickoff.

Jay Johnson and Al Patsel each scored 16 for Paradise, which has a 7-0 record with two games left. The Old Soldiers, now 5-2, were led by Terry Overlid and Don Hansen with 14 each.

Mike Gaffney's 21 points led the Pirates past Riordan 47-41 and Don's Market beat Schafer's 57-45 despite Roger Smith's 20 points in the high school league. Lowell (7-0) and Poly (6-1) lead this league.

Pacific Duck Flight Said Better Than Last Season's

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Ducks Unlimited, a non-profit organization representing the hunters of the Pacific Waterfowl Flyway, disagreed with a report issued by the Interior Department yesterday.

The report issued from the Fish and Wildlife Service through the Interior Department indicated that the fall flights of waterfowl might be much lower than last year.

The department said delayed nesting and a drop in water levels in breeding areas indicates there will be fewer waterfowl in the fall flight. The report was very pessimistic over the number of canvasback ducks available.

Paul Richards of Reno, Nev., co-chairman and a trustee of Ducks Unlimited, said field biologists representing Ducks Unlimited "indicate production and nesting conditions in southwestern Canada to be excellent."

PACIFIC FLYWAY

The other co-chairman — Dr. Joseph Sweet of Oakland, Calif. —said that Ducks Unlimited biologists reports indicate the fall flight through the Pacific Flyway, at least, will be better than last year. The flyway is over California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, and western Montana.

Dr. Sweet said "either the Fish and Wildlife reports are incorrect or else our biologists are blind."

Fish and Wildlife representative John Chattin of Portland, Ore., said the federal survey and report were made from an overall average of waterfowl production in North America. He said the Ducks Unlimited report was taken in a specialized area.

"The difference in the ways the surveys were taken brought about the different conclusions," Chattin said.

Both reports were taken in the western provinces of Canada and northern United States where the waterfowl make their summer nesting grounds. Birds in the nesting grounds use all four major North America flyways in the annual migrations.

Expect Marin Hunters To Bag 600-Plus Deer

Conditions are expected to be generally about the same as last year but something new has been added for the start of the California early coastal deer season Saturday.

Marin County hunters have no public land to chase after deer but hunters with access to private lands will probably equal last year's kill of 629 bucks, according to the Department of Fish and Game.

Deer in the county are expected to be scattered at the start of the early season but may begin to cluster later in the season when the acorns begin to fall.

Generally across the state, conditions are expected to be good, if hot. The fire hazard on most hunting areas is high, hunters were warned.

In Northern California, weather conditions are hot and dry, with accompanying high fire hazard. Deer are well scattered and can be found at all elevations.

The something new is an advantage for hunters. They'll be able to validate their deer tags, rather than seeking a cosigner in a government agency.

The Fish and Game Department says the self-validation experiment will be made permanent unless hunters fail to turn in their tags under the new system. Returning the tags is a key element in the state's deer management program.

Are Books Wrong On Advice For Second Low, Third High?

"What should I do when the rules of good play cost me a trick?" asks a reader.

"I always play second-hand-low and third-hand-high, but this doesn't always produce the best result. Are the books wrong?"

BOOKS WRONG

Yes, the books are wrong because no book can cover all possible situations. The "rules" are meant only as general advice.

Break the rules whenever it's to your advantage to do so.

Take today's hand as an example of when to break the time-honored rule of "third-hand-high."

West leads the three of spades, and declarer plays the queen from dummy. East must break the rule if he wants to defeat the contract.

Suppose East takes the ace of spades and returns a spade to dummy's king. Declarer starts the clubs, losing to West's queen.

West can take his jack of spades and his ace of clubs, but nothing else. South's ten of spades saves the day for him.

SIGNALS WITH NINE

East defeats the contract if he breaks the rule at the first trick. He should signal with the nine of spades instead of playing the ace.

Declarer starts the clubs, losing to the queen. West leads another spade, correctly interpreting the nine as an encouraging signal.

Now East can take the ace of spades and can return the deuce of spades through South.

West gets both the jack and the eight of spades, and the defenders thus defeat the contract with three spades and two clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three hearts.

Your hand should be worth about three or four tricks to your partner, enough to produce a game if partner has a really good hand for his overcall.

If three hearts goes down, the loss is small since the opponents could probably make a part score if you let them bid comfortably.

Local Folks Must Know Where It Is

FREDERICKSBURG, Tex. (UPI)—Travelers in the vicinity of this central Texas town had better be prepared when they ask directions to Ranch Road 1965.

Locally, it is known as North Milan Street, Cross Mountain Road, Exchanged Rock Road, Crab Apple Road, Bear Mountain Road and Balanced Rock Road, depending on who is giving directions.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Aug. 3, the 215th day of 1967 with 150 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Saturn and Mercury. The evening stars are Venus and Mars.

Born on this day in 1900 was American newspaperman Ernie Pyle.

On this day in history:

In 1914, Germany declared war on France, and England announced it would protect France from naval attack.

In 1954, Mrs. Barbara "Bobo" Rockefeller was granted a $5.5 million settlement in obtaining a divorce from Winthrop Rockefeller.

In 1958, the American submarine "Nautilus" made the world's first undersea crossing of the North Pole.

A thought for the day — American writer Elliott Paul once said: "Patience makes women beautiful in middle age."

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Booking Agent For Theatrical Talent, Musicians Is Launched

A booking agency for theatrical talent and musical groups is the new venture taken on by Don McCoy, who has McCoy Floating Homes, 240 Redwood Highway, at the south end of Richardson Bridge.

Actually this has been sometime in the making. Since he has been renting out houseboats and office space here for the past four years McCoy says he has become acquainted with a considerable number of show people and in some instances has helped them to get placed. Now he has set up a corporation, Golden Gate Booking Agency, Inc., and has gone into the business officially, using the same address.

He is particularly interested in rock and roll groups and some of those he is now handling he expects to become headliners. In time he expects to be licensed for both management and agency work.

NEWLY ENTERED in practice in the Medical Dental Building, 750 Gallinas Avenue, Northgate is Dr. Brian Williams, physician and opthalmologist, recently from Everett, Wash., where he has been practicing about a year. Previously his practice was three years with the U. S. Army. He had his residency at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco and is certified by the American Board of Ophthalmologists. He and his family have taken a home in Lucas Valley.

TWO MARIN MEN have received new appointments at San Francisco offices of Crocker-Citizens National Bank. T. William Plummer Jr. of Novato has been assigned to the automotive finance administration as an automobile finance officer. Since 1965 he has managed the automotive finance department at the 20th and Geary office. He joined the bank in 1958 at San Jose and later served at Yuba City before coming to San Francisco.

Plummer Owen

Charles D. Owen Jr. of San Rafael has been promoted to loan officer in the bank's commercial loan administration, where he is assigned to the accounts receivable financing division. He joined Crocker-Citizens in 1964 following 15 years of business experience.

PROMOTIONS at Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, San Francisco, have elevated H. Philip McLaughlin Jr. of Corte Madera to regional vice president and Arthur G. Falk of San Rafael to assistant vice president.

McLaughlin joined Fireman's Fund in 1960 at Los Angeles. He was transferred to San Francisco in 1964 and is in charge of the company's life and disability operations in the Pacific region.

Falk has been in the life insurance business since 1938. He joined Fireman's Fund in 1957 and was appointed claims secretary in 1964. He is a member of the Group Claims Association of San Francisco.

SURE WAY TO GET ATTENTION. San Rafael real estate broker and appraiser Edward P. Murphy has taken advantage of the fact that almost everyone is quick to open a window face envelope which appears to have a check inside, with both his name and yours showing through — and you weren't even aware that he owed you anything.

The check is there, all right —but made out as a change of address notice. Disappointing? By the way he has moved his office from 813 A Street to Room 322 in the Albert Building, 1010 B Street. Check with information, too, before you phone him. He has a new number.

KEEPING TIME

An 18th Century Belgian hourglass bears a slight resemblance to a new chronometer called VSR, developed by Rohde & Schwarz, a German firm. But there's scarcely room for comparison when it comes to precision timekeeping. The XSR relies on rubidium, instead of sand, for accuracy in the atomic age. (German Features photo)

INVESTING

Make Switch To Provide More Growth

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "Last year my son invested half his bar mitzvah gift money in Certain-teed Products at 22. He is discouraged at the price action since he had hoped to enhance his capital for his future college education. Should he wait for recovery or should he switch to a stock with greater potential? If so what do you suggest?" P. S.

A. "Your son received a generous gift and it is unfortunate that he invested in the building industry which has been taking some hard knocks recently. Decline on construction and certain other factors dropped Certain-teed's share earnings in 1966 to a four-year low and I project little if any improvement in 1967. The stock is subject to wide price variations and does not seem suitable for your son's objective. I advise him to switch Certain-teed into American Home Products which has had a consistent record of growth and appears much better situated for long-term capital enhancement.

Q. "What is meant by 'selling short against the box'? What are the tax advantages or disadvantages of such a sale?" S. B.

A. If an investor is dubious about the outlook for a stock he owns, he can hedge his position by "selling short against the box." If the stock goes down and he suffers a decline on his original holdings, he makes an equivalent profit on his short position. If the stock in question goes up he makes no further gain because he's at the same time taking an equivalent loss on his short stock.

As far as the broker is concerned, the investor is making a short sale which is handled just like any other "short" transaction. When selling against the box, however, the investor can buy stock to cover his short if the price declines; or he can deliver his own holdings if the shares rise. I regret sincerely that I cannot answer tax questions here since these properly are within the province of an attorney or tax accountant.

Q. "I own 150 Ampex. Recently the 5¼ debentures of 1991 sold at 146½. The common pays no dividends. Would it be wise to sell the common and buy $4,000 convertible 5¼s?" A.S.

A. Ampex debentures are convertible into common at 27¾ and their recent conversion value was roughly $1,400. Their current yield is 3.6 per cent and the conversion privilege carries a premium of about $65 per bond. The debentures have less downside risk and lower upside potential. If you wish to stay with this volatile situation on these terms, you might well make the exchange.

Stock Market Lower After Tax Proposal

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed lower today but recovered much of the loss taken on news of President Johnson's request for a 10 per cent tax surcharge.

Stocks were dumped in heavy trading on news of the President's request as Wall Street had not expected Johnson would ask that much.

The selloff lasted only about an hour and then losses were trimmed.

Losers still outnumbered gainers by a fairly wide margin at the final bell, however.

The Dow Jones industrial average at 3 p.m. was off .58 at 912.69, having recovered from a drop of 9.30.

The Dow Jones industrial average at 2 p.m. was off 2.83 at 919.44.

At the worst the average was down 9.30.

Volume for the first four hours was 10.05 million shares compared with 10.33 million yesterday.

The ticker tape ran late when selling was at its heaviest around midday. It caught abreast of transactions in about an hour.

Word that the proposed tax increase would have tough sledding through Congress helped rebuild the market confidence. Wall Street was surprised at the amount of the proposed surcharge, expecting something less.

As stocks recovered, Studebaker climbed nearly 4 points. U.S. Smelting 3 and Reynolds Metals 2.

Xerox rebounded about 4 points.

BUSINESS MIRROR

Railroads, Postal Service Not Ideally Matched Now

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the nation's problem industries, the railroads and the postal service, have found themselves stumbling over each other's difficulties in their search for modernization.

For many decades these two were ideally married. They leaned on each other heavily, the postal service needing railroads to haul its sorting cars and the railroads depending heavily on the revenue so earned.

The marriage is ending now. As in many separations the couple had been drifting apart for a long while.

The final break came when the Post Office Department sent notices to many of the nation's railroads this month that it intended to cut back permanently on the use of railway post offices.

This provoked the heated response from some lines, especially the New York Central, that the loss of revenue was more than it could bear. On many trains, the Central said, mail revenue exceeded passenger fares.

The result, some railroad people intimate, is that within the next couple of months the Interstate Commerce Commission and state regulatory agencies are going to receive an avalanche of applications to discontinue passenger service.

The inference in some of these statements is that the Post Office is to blame, an attitude that postal officials, among others, decline to accept.

The Post Office has its own problems, they say, and its officials have publicly broadcast them. And it has its own responsibilities, the primary one being to provide mail service to the public rather than business to the rails.

The fact is that the Post Office and the railroads, under the pressure of modern living, are assuming different characteristics. No longer do they share the same interest, except that of modernization.

Zip coding, for example, has changed the processing and routing of mail. No longer is it as imperative that mail be sorted by postal workers riding a special car hitched to a long-distance passenger train.

Meanwhile, the railroads have been eliminating much passenger service as being unprofitable. This has led to less integration of schedules, making it a bit more difficult to route mail to distant points over the tracks of several lines.

Poor rail service may have been a contributing factor in the Post Office decision. Many fines have been levied against the railroads this year because of a pattern of late arrivals.

Other forms of transportation also have helped change the Post Office mind.

One of the biggest competitors for the Post Office dollar has been the airlines, which themselves have been fined, although the greater use of trucks for distances up to 200 miles has cut into rail revenue also.

A New Tax Rate For Corporations

Corporate taxpayers filing California franchise or income tax returns must use the new 7 per cent rate adopted by the State Legislature in computing their tax for those months in the income year falling within 1967.

The new rate structure will require corporate taxpayers to use existing forms, Martin Huff, executive officer of the Franchise Tax Board, said, but to apply the new tax rates as explained on a notice which will be mailed to taxpayers. Those corporations which have already filed their returns will receive a bill for the additional tax due. Corporations with returns due Aug. 15, 1967, must use the new rates for that portion of the fiscal year falling in 1967, he said.

The new provision in the law requires corporations to make a second payment of their estimated tax amounting to 25 per cent within 10 months and 15 days after the start of their income year.

Corporations filing declarations of estimated tax should base their estimates on the new rates, Huff said. Corporations which have already filed their declarations of estimated tax will receive a notice of the additional amounts due.

New corporation tax rates adopted by the State Legislature amount to 7 per cent of the corporation's net profit for general corporations, and a maximum of 11 per cent for financial institutions and banks. The old rates were 5.5 per cent for general corporations and a maximum of 9.5 per cent for banks and financial institutions.

Taxpayers who need assistance with their returns or who do not understand how to compute the tax for the current fiscal year should contact any office of the Franchise Tax Board, or write to the headquarters office at 1025 P. Street, Sacramento, Calif. 95814.

'NEWER ONE' COMING

Award-Winning Book Printers Donate Press To U.C. Campus

By JIM BREWER

For 14 years, Lewis and Dorothy Allen of the Allen Press, have printed award-winning limited editions in their Kent Woodlands home — by hand on a 135-year-old press.

Today, their one-ton Acorn-Smith press will be moved out as a gift to the University of California at Santa Cruz, and will be replaced by a more valuable, newer model — 16 years newer.

The Acorn-Smith press, named for its acorn shape, was manufactured in New York about 1830 by the Robert Hoe Company. The Allens acquired it as a gift in 1953 from Jackson Burk of San Francisco and brought it to their home, where they have used it to produce an average of one limited edition each year, in the styles of past century printing.

For the Allens, printing these volumes is a full-time job. They have been doing it since 1939, performing all facets of book manufacturing themselves — designing, typesetting, printing, binding, artwork, and usually publishing. The paper, coarse and thick, is made especially for them by European mills. The ink and binding are also European-made. "We believe we can do more authentic work by hand because we have better control," Allen said.

Their latest edition, "Dialogues of Creatures Mortalized," was just completed this week and contains 122 woodcuts and several illustrations, printed on damp, all-rag Italian-made paper.

Block printing and intricate artwork in six colors and black, fill 230 pages with authentic antiquity. One hundred thirty copies will be available at a cost of $85 each — the last Allen edition to be printed on the Acorn-Smith press.

At the U. C. campups at Santa Cruz, the press will be used for the school's graphic arts and librarianship programs, Allen said. "We chose that school because it is patterned after Oxford and Cambridge Universities in England," he said. "We feel it will be treated better there."

Replacing the "old" press, now valued at over $2,500, will be a Columbian, made in England in 1846. Decorated with many elaborate designs, it was purchased by a London printing company as its first equipment, Allen explained.

"The firm, which is now one of the largest in the world, had completely reconditioned it as a reminder of their humble beginning," he continued.

"When we were in London in 1965," he said, "we were advised the press might be for sale as the company had decided to move its central offices out of London. When we found out it was, we grabbed it at a good price."

Allen declined to disclose the price, but said it is worth more than his Acorn-Smith model.

Resting on top of the new Columbian, to be installed in two weeks, and serving as a counter-balance, is a large golden eagle, symbolic of Jove's Thunderbolt. Other mythological figures, all in gold leaf, surround the iron frame.

"But not only is the press decorative," Allen said, "it will be far easier to operate. It's one of the most beautiful in the world — one of a kind."

The Allens, who said their goal is to offer significant and timeless texts, started in business in 1939. From their hilltop house, at 10 Ridgecrest Road, they look forward to printing these volumes with a new enthusiasm.

Dixie School Budget Passes; Tax Not Set

A final budget of $3,099,657 for fiscal 1968, up $525,211, was adopted unanimously last night by Dixie School District trustees.

Asst. Supt. Joseph B. Goff said a budget of $3,083,489 was incorrectly reported at the last meeting through a calculating error. Trustees fixed the mistake last night.

A drop of 11.5 cents in the district tax rate to $3.46 per $100 of assessed valuation has been forecast by Goff, although the total property tax bill will rise $138,000 to $1,661,300.

The final tax rate will be determined later this month by the Board of Supervisors.

Assessed valuation for this fiscal year was placed at $44 million ,up $5.3 million from last year.

Calvin Pervis of 616 Appleberry Drive questioned the budget increase from the audience, and was told by board members and Supt. Dennie B. Willis it was needed to cover a projected increase this fall of 300 pupils, hikes in teacher salaries and curriculum improvements.

"We've had similar budget increases since 1954 when the district had only a one-classroom school with 23 students," Willis said. "Now we have 4,600 students with nine schools and one under construction."

The Dixie School District Board also:

PERSONNEL DIRECTOR — Appointed after a brief executive session John D. King of Terra Linda, former principal of Lucas Valley School, as personnel and special services director, a new position, at $16,500 annually. King has been on leave from the district for advanced study at the University of Minnesota.

LOAN Asked the county for $350,000 to cover expenses until new tax funds are received in December, an annual procedure.

STORAGE — Agreed to let Goff and Willis decide on whether to obtain bids or informal quotes on a construction and lease agreement for a storage and freight handling building at the old Dixie School stite.

DELAY —Granted Perma-Bilt Enterprises of San Leandro a contract extension until Aug. 30 for completion of off-site improvements at Oakview School, now under construction, because of work difficulties arising from last winter's heavy rains.

PAVING — Awarded a $7,892 contact to Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael for paving and playground improvements at Santa Margarita, Don Timoteo, Bernard Hoffman, Dixie, Lucas Valley and Mary E. Silveira schools.

NEW EMPLOYEES — Named Mrs. Mary Jane McKown as intern psychologist at $5,400 a year, and Lloyd Dinwiddie a custodian at $420 monthly.

DELEGATE — Nominated trustee Dorothy Brown to serve in the delegate assembly of the California School Boards Association, and paid group dues of $515.

Body Of Woman Found In Trunk Is Identified

SANTA MONICA (AP) — A nude blonde, whose body was found stuffed in a trunk abandoned in Room 13 of an Olympic Boulevard motel, has been identified as Evelyn Roberts, 42, Hollywood waitress.

And police say they're searching for James Henry Carter, 35, a telephone solicitor, to whom the room was registered.

The partly decomposed body was found yesterday and was not immediately identified. Police said Carter carried the trunk himself into the second story room when he checked in six days ago, and had lived in at least two motels with it.

The coroner's office said the cause of death appeared to be multiple injuries.

Greenbrae Man Hurt In Wreck

A Greenbrae man was seriously injured at 1:55 a.m. today when his northbound car on Highway 101 crashed into another car and a fence, one-half mile south of the Corte Madera overpass.

Ralph Leo Bartlett, 38, of 430 Vista Grande, Greenbrae, was reported in fair condition at Marin General Hospital, with a head injury and face cuts.

His car hit the rear of a northbound car driven by Brian Scott Telford, 31 Gregg Place, Novato, then spun into the chain-link fence in the center of the highway, according to California Highway Patrol.

Rug, Painting Are Stolen

Two house burglaries were reported yesterday in San Rafael, police said today.

Lola F. Gilardi reported that on Tuesday someone entered a furnished model home at 451 Cedar Hill Drive and stole a $100 quilt and a $75 rug.

James N. Liddell told officers that between July 31 and yesterday someone stole a $100 oil painting from his living room at 22 Calavista Drive.

Check Charge Plea Scheduled By Court

James L. Buck, 41-year-old transient, has been scheduled in Marin Municipal Court for plea entry at 1:30 p.m. Aug. 24 on a felony charge of two counts of passing worthless checks.

New Astronauts' Naming Expected

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—An Australian physicist and a Welsh chemist will become the first naturalized U.S. citizens among the nation's spacemen.

A group of 11 new astronauts will include Dr. John A. Llewellyn, a professor at Florida State University in Tallahassee, a native of Cardiff, Wales, and Dr. Philip K. Chapman, a staff physicist at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology experimental astronomy lab, born in New South Wales, Australia.

The new astronauts also include a Houston medical intern, an Illinois astronomer and a former Air Force filght surgeon, informed sources said.

NEW CITIZENS

Llewellyn and Chapman have become U.S. citizens in the last two and one-half months to conform with requirements of the scientific astronaut selection committee. Previously, the astronaut corps had been open only to native-born Americans.

A special ruling permitted the pair to apply for the nation's astronaut program, despite their foreign citizenships at the time they applied.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) confirmed that all five men identified are in final running for the new astronaut group.

The other three are:

Dr. Karl G. Heinze, an astronomer at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill.

Dr. Donald Holmquest, an intern at Houston's Methodist Hospital.

Dr. William E. Thornon, until June a flight surgeon at the Air Force School of Aerospace Medicine in San Antonio, Tex.

57 ASTRONAUTS

Selection of the 11 astronauts, the second class of scientist-spacemen to be picked, will extend the ranks of astronauts to 57 members.

The selection process, conducted at the National Academy of Sciences, is not finished, a spokesman of the Manned Spacecraft Center said.

"Final selection determination has not been made," the spokesman said. "We do not expect it to be made until shortly before the final announcement."

The spokesman refused to confirm the total number to be named. But informed sources at the agency said the number stands at 11, but could increase slightly before the official announcement is made.

Guard Dog Out Of A Job

SHEFFIELD, England (UPI)—Bookmaker Philip Hayman has sacked his 50-pound ($140) English mastiff guard dog, Kimble, after the dog failed to help him fight a troublemaker at the office.

Kimble, who is three feet high and weighs 182 pounds, kept on sleeping when called upon for help.

Commented Hayman, "He wasn't doing his job. So I sacked him like I would sack any member of my staff who was incompetent."

Morals Offense Charged To Youth

A 15-year-old San Anselmo boy was given a juvenile citation charging indecent exposure after a Ross woman told San Anselmo police she saw him standing in front of an apartment building at 40 Magnolia Avenue with no clothes on, at 2:45 p.m.

Youth Cited

A 16-year-old Tiburon boy was turned over to the juvenile bureau at 5:20 p.m. Tuesday by Sheriff's Deputy John O. Goff, on suspicion of stealing $75 Sunday and $25 on July 26, from the Tiburon Peninsula Club.
